Legacy Family Tree Webinar: Building a Research Toolbox – Wednesday, April 6, 2011

Time zones: 2PM eastern U.S., 1PM Central U.S., 12PM Mountain U.S., 11AM Pacific U.S., 6PM GMT.

Registration: <https://www1.gotomeeting.com/register/926215616>

“Are you overwhelmed with the number of online resources for genealogical research? Are you constantly working with unorganized bookmarks or favorites? Printing out lists of websites you use most? Learn how to build a research toolbox that is organized, easy-to-use, and can be accessed from almost anywhere.”

Presented by professional genealogist and Geneablogger.com's Thomas MacEntee, participants will learn not only some of the most important online resources for genealogical research, but also how to organize these resources into an easy-to-access and portable virtual toolbox.

About the speaker:

Thomas MacEntee is a professional genealogist specializing in the use of technology and social media to improve genealogical research and as a means of interacting with others in the family history community. Utilizing over 25 years of experience in the information technology field, Thomas writes and lectures on the many ways in which blogs, Facebook and Twitter can be leveraged to add new dimensions to the genealogy experience. As the creator of GeneaBloggers.com he has organized and engaged a community of over 1,300 bloggers to document their own journeys in the search for ancestors."

Virginia Goodwin-Gray watched some of the RootsTech lectures. Maybe she'll share what she thought of them with us.

The Genea-Musings blog pointed me to the familysearch wiki on sources for census records:

Looking at this resource in general - the family search wiki: https://wiki.familysearch.org/en/Main\_Page example given of needing to write a letter to Poland: type POLAND. See letter writing help.

Or see what they know about TENNESSEE resources.
