Dear Readers,

The Tennessee Genealogical Magazine, "Ansearchin'" News, will have a new look in 1986. For over 30 years "Ansearchin'" has published genealogical records from corner to corner of Tennessee, gaining annually in expertise and in acceptance by researchers. We of the staff appreciate the kind and favorable comments from our subscribers, and we cherish the rapport we have with you. We trust that the changes we plan will not affect that.

"Ansearchin'" News will continue its commitment to publishing the best in genealogical records - county records, family records, cemetery and newspaper listings, census, church minutes and queries for subscribers - with a careful regard to making them as easy to read as possible without wasting valuable space. The inside pages will remain the same in quality of content; only the outside appearance will change.

The cover and binding of the magazine has been redesigned to reduce the manual labor involved in printing, collating and mailing each issue, but the size and number of pages in each volume will remain the same. The three-hole-punch style with its blue binder will be abolished, but we feel that the new saddle binding will be much easier to store; you can perforate the pages to file them in notebooks of your choice. Each subscriber will continue to be entitled to one free query per year and to the services of the Surname Index as usual.

The Tennessee Genealogical Society and its magazine look forward with excitement to this modernization. We feel that our production will become more efficient while maintaining quality and retaining the personal touch. We hope you share our enthusiasm.

Sincerely,

Gerry Byers Spence, Editor

CERTIFICATES OF TENNESSEE ANCESTRY

The State of Tennessee and its people are participating in a special project, TENNESSEE HOMECOMING '86, encouraging people nationwide to learn more about their Tennessee "roots" by returning to Tennessee for reunions and visits. All are invited to participate in projects designed to help us enjoy and preserve our history, traditions and heritage. These projects range from family reunions and entertainment to the making of films, writing of histories, and the marketing of a trivia game.

The Tennessee Genealogical Society's project for TENNESSEE HOMECOMING '86 is the issuing of a Certificate of Tennessee Ancestry to people who document their lineage from a Tennessee ancestor, and who meet other specified criteria. Your participation is welcomed. The data generated by this program will contribute greatly to the preservation of Tennessee history and genealogical records.

Many people who helped develop and make Tennessee great have been lost in history, unnoticed by historians because they lived quiet lives, reared their children, and unobtrusively contributed to the well-being of their neighbors and communities. Help us to preserve the history of YOUR Tennessee ancestor!

It is NOT necessary for you to be a member of The Tennessee Genealogical Society, or for you to live, or ever to have lived in Tennessee. It is only necessary that you have a documented ancestor who did. There are three categories:

Prior to Statehood: Pioneer - Certificate of Tennessee Ancestry
1796 to 1850: Settler - Certificate of Tennessee Ancestry
1851 to 1880: Certificate of Tennessee Ancestry

These attractive certificates are 8½ x 11 inches. Printed on parchment paper with a screened outline of the State of Tennessee and a frontier scene, they are suitable for framing and will make a treasured keepsake.

Eligible descendants must submit an application form showing a straight line of descent, with proof of lineage and photocopies of documentation. There will be a small charge to offset the expense and administration of this program. Applications and all materials submitted become the property of The Tennessee Genealogical Society.

For application forms and additional information, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to:

BOOK REVIEWS

By Harry M. Cleveland, Jr., Doris Hardister, Jane C. Hollis, Wanda C. James, Hyrtie L. Shelton, Jewell C. Taylor, Louise T. Tyus

These books are alphabetical lists, by full name of subject, of any death mentioned in many newspapers located in some Louisiana parishes as early as 1811. Volume I gives notices from Ascension, East and West Feliciana, Livingston, St. Helena, and Tangipahoa Parishes from 1811 to 1919. Volume II lists abstracted notices from Ascension, East Baton Rouge, and Pointe Coupee Parishes from 1822 to 1914. In Volume III notices from the parishes of Ascension, East Baton Rouge, Iberville and Washington are covered from 1833 to 1917. Throughout the Volumes a simple and easy to use format is followed: name of deceased, newspaper where notice appears, issue date of newspaper, page and column number, and newspaper source. Translation from French is noted most often from the Point Coupee Democrat. Instructions for securing copies of articles are clear and concise.

This is a family history of a well-grained Cobb. The book is divided into four parts where some of the Cobb grains or seeds have settled and prospered. Each part of the book is preceded by a short history of that area and the Cobs that were there. These were southeast Virginia from 1607 to 1748 where Nicholas Cobb transferred land in 1656 in Isle of Wight County; the Tar River country of North Carolina where some of Nicholas' descendants settled between 1748 and 1850; Bertie County, North Carolina, 1722-1981, which gives the history of the children of Edward Cobb, Sr.; and Haywood County, Tennessee, 1831-1983, following the descendants of John and James, Jr. and a Texas branch of Cobb families. The Bertie County chapter gives brief accounts of some Cobb neighbors: Bell, King, Byrd, Steele, Ryan, Castellaw, Capehart, Oxley, Newbern, Gaskins, Johnson, Parrott, Rasor and Hardy. Pedigree charts organize the various families, and photographs enhance the text.

The five family names listed in the title are traced from the early ancestor through family marriages and migrations. The Andrew Roberts family was in Craven County, North Carolina before 1700. The Allen family was in Johnston County, North Carolina by 1740. Hezekiah Highfill's family was in Guilford County, North Carolina where he died in 1818. Henry J. Rogers and Malinda Highfill married in 1845 in Hardeman County, Tennessee. The Scottish Davis family is described as coming to Plymouth Rock, Massachusetts in 1638. The families were dispersed throughout the southern, midwestern and far western states. The author uses an ingenious method to cite census information and number family members. Along with a multitude of facts, clear photographs present the family graphically.

Containing over 7,000 marriages, this book is intended as a guide to Sumner County which was created in 1786. The grooms are listed alphabetically with the brides names and the date of marriage or bond. Brides are completely indexed. If a particular marriage of interest is located, it is advisable to then view the original record, and ordering instructions are given in the Forward. Footnotes on each page denote Afro-American, occasionally maiden name, middle, full names, or nicknames, similar sounding surnames, if filed in another place on microfilm, and rare notes on previous residences or later occupations. Adams, Anthony, Bradley, Cornwell, Ellis, Key, Parker, Shelton, Taylor, Thompson, Wright, and Young are among the grooms listed. Armstrong, Ayers, Baker, Clendening, Cole, Daniel, Escue, Evans, Ford, Garrett, Hodges, Jackson, Perry and Robertson are among the brides found here.

The 1870 Federal census of Lowndes County was compiled under the direction of Kris Bennett and Donna Pannell Kruetzer. The surname of the head of the household is listed alphabetically with the original page number and all inhabitants of the household with respective ages, sex, color, occupation and place of birth. Real and personal estate worth is noted when it appeared on the original record. Location of house is given according to township number and town or police district in Columbus. Volume I contains an extensive list of abbreviations used throughout both volumes.

Between 1796 and 1835 thousands of petitions on a variety of subjects were presented by citizens of Tennessee to the General Assembly. Several hundred pleas for divorce or separation were abstracted for this volume. An unexplored area of information is presented including possible genealogical data such as date and place of marriage where county records do not exist, maiden name of bride or former name when widow remarried, name of father, mother, relatives and near neighbors. The petitions cover all classes of society and graphically describe marital problems and the high incidences of desertion and subsequent bigamy. They offer insight on migratory patterns to and within Tennessee during its early years. Appearing in each abstract are the petitioner's name, date of petition and county which was usually home to the petitioner for one year prior to filing petition, wording of the abstract and identification of sources.

The Payne story begins with Henry Payne who married Rachael Thompson 17 December 1795 in Orange County, North Carolina. About 1806 this couple moved to Wilson County, Tennessee. The book concerns itself with their descendants who migrated to Wabash County, Illinois in the early 1840's and those who remained in Wilson County. Their children are James, Polly, John, Elizabeth, Joseph, Andrew and Abigail. Church and bible records, court records, a diary, family group charts and pictures document the book well. A few of the related names are Brown, Armstrong, Loeffler, Price, Densmore, Crewell, Compton, McFarland, Smith and Reck.

Marriages are listed chronologically by date of license issue. The marriage date is given after the name of the bride and groom. Absence of date indicates no return of marriage date to the courthouse. The book contains a full name index of brides and grooms. There are a few marriage records copied from White County, Tennessee Revolutionary War pension applications during the 1820's and 1830's, plus some that were copied from early Sparta newspapers. These records are very helpful to persons researching White County during this twenty-two year span.

While this book concentrates on the descendants of two brothers, Jesse and Benjamin Sapp Jr., the main emphasis is the progeny of Zachariah Sapp and Priscilla Skillern whose descendants generally remained in the upper Cumberland region in Tennessee. Zachariah and Priscilla married c1818 in Tennessee. In the text are included family charts, photographs and records regarding the Sapp family in Maryland, Delaware, North Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee. Related surnames in Tennessee are Smith, Scarbrough, Wilson, Fraser, Stewart, Bolin, VanWinkle, Welch, Anderson and many others.

Generations are found here for descendants of Charles Davis, born c1706, who migrated to the Philadelphia area from the British Isles about 1725. He married Hannah Matson and became a member of the Society of Friends in Pennsylvania. Their children were Thomas, John, Elizabeth, Sarah, Mary, Hannah, Thamer and Abigail. Part 1 begins with an account of a Davis Estate and proceeds with nine generations of Davis men. Part 2 covers Davis daughters through the ninth generation finding such names as Vestal, Cox, Moffitt, Ozbun and Williams. Part 3 presents some other descendants in female lines. Maps, photographs and author's notes accompany the material. Ancestry of early Davis spouses, other Quaker Davises, and Quaker customs and meetings are given in an appendix. The text and the abundance of material make this volume a must for the Davis Quaker family descendants or anyone researching the name and areas around Philadelphia, the Potomac River in Virginia and Chatham, Orange, Randolph, Alamance, and Guilford Counties in North Carolina.

Thousands of Georgia's cemeteries have been copied during the past fifty years and are available to researchers in 202 known books, periodicals, microfilms, manuscripts and other sources. The bibliography and abbreviations of sources are extensive. Included are dates, authors, publishers with addresses, volume and page number of periodicals, and some book reviews. Symbols are explained, such as, an asterisk which denotes that the particular cemetery transcription reference is incomplete. This directory is a researcher's guide to approximately 10,725 cemetery transcriptions arranged alphabetically by county and then alphabetically by cemetery name within the county. A numerical ranking of fewest and most recorded cemeteries within the county is given for all counties; areas which need transcribing are shown. Dade, Quitman and Towns Counties have no known listings; Washington County has 302 transcribed cemeteries.

This translation from the French is the second in an eight volume group entitled NOS ANCESTRES which was written by Gerard Lebel. It outlines a brief history of life in New France between 1663 and 1760. An introductory chapter on the seigneurial system explains land holdings, settlement, local government, defense and military order. Nearly one in twelve of the early ancestors was a member of the legendary Carignan Regiment which justifies a chapter devoted to this illustrious fighting force and the important part it played in the early history of Canada. This book contains a valuable English glossary of words and phrases found in French-Canadian genealogy. Each family is catalogued and documented with maps and charts. Featured surnames are Bedard, Bolduc, Chouinard, Daigle, Desgagnes, Desrosiers, Drouin, Garnier, Gauthier dit Larouche, Gervaise, Giguerre, Labbe, Leclerc, Lemay, Lepage, Michaud, Moisan, Pelchat, Perrot, Phaneuf, Pouliot, Rioux, Roudier dit St-Onge and Trucault.

Background information for the Weeks chart dates back to 1600 in England. The American family starts in Perquimans County, North Carolina with the patriot, Thomas who was born there in 1740 and died there in 1805. The text continues with Michael, born c1785 in Edgefield County, South Carolina; his descendants eventually moved to Georgia. There is an article about the Weeks United Methodist Chapel in Colquitt County, Georgia and a survey of that church cemetery and the Cool Springs Free Will Baptist Church and Cemetery. The book has many family pictures, schools and students. Interviews with family members and documentation offer much information to anyone interested in the Weeks family. Related families are Scarborough, Herndon, NeSmith, Robinson, Harrell and Drawdy.

LAND ENTRY BOOK GREENBRIER CO., W.VA. 1984. Soft back. 245 pp. Indexed. $16.00. Order both volumes from author, Helen S. Stinson, P.O. Box 801544, Dallas, TX 75380.

The Nicholas County volume has 209 pages of cemetery listings for tombstones north and south of the Gauley River. A county map shows cemetery locations in relation to the river. Directions for locating and condition of each cemetery are given. Surnames appear in bold face type, even maiden names when found. Symbols used in this compilation are explained well and make the data very understandable. Research is given on the William Williams and Elizabeth Jones families and Isaac Foster family and Thomas Smyth family connections. Information includes family group sheets, military records, pension applications, court records such as deeds and wills, with some Greenbrier and Fayette County, West Virginia cemetery tombstone listings, tax lists and marriages.

The Land Entry Book of Greenbrier County, [formerly Virginia] West Virginia won the 1985 Dallas Genealogical Society's annual book award. It is a transcription of the entire land entry book and contains name of settler, the manner in which an entry is made (Right of Settlement before 1 January 1778; Military Warrant; Greenbrier Land Company; Exchange Warrant or Land Office Treasury Warrant), number of acres, description of the property boundaries, heirs, assigns and neighbors. This land entry book predates all other public records in this central West Virginia county and those counties formed from its original land mass: Braxton, Calhoun, Clay, Fayette, Gilmer, Jackson, Kanawha, Mason, Monroe, Nicholas, Pleasants, Pocahantas, Putnam, Ritchie, Summers, Webster, Wood and Wirt. An introduction, definitions, place names and locations of waterways on a county map provide a necessary dimension to the land records of early settlers in this area of what was then Virginia.

The seventh volume of cemetery records by this compiler-researcher includes more than 13,000 names in the index. There are many war memorials and monuments: Soldiers Circle and Mosby Monuments at Prospect Hill Cemetery and Battle of Front Royal Monument, Korean-Vietnam and World War I and II Memorials at Front Royal. The Prospect Hill Cemetery, which took twenty-two man days to copy, contains the names of thousands of former residents from Front Royal and elsewhere in Warren County. Some of these citizens lived on the same land which formerly was a part of Orange, Spotsylvania, and Essex Counties. Included is a history of many other cemeteries and data on many of the dead and their families. Information on spouses, parents, and grandparents is given on several persons who were buried while one cemetery was being surveyed.

This genealogy focuses on Samuel and Eleanor Springs Roach, the predecessors of the Roach family in America, and allied colonial lines of Dodds, Erwin, Garrison, Heron, and Springs. Samuel was born c1737 and died in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina in 1781. Eleanor remarried twice, to George Dodds and later Nathaniel Henderson; she died in 1816 in York County, South Carolina. The compiler points to the contributions of these early pioneers in the development of America, particularly in the states of South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Texas and Mississippi. The author includes photo copies of original records and newspaper clippings as well as cemetery listings and photographs. Interesting background material is newspaper abstracts from the Rock Hill Herald (1897) and the Yorkville Enquirer (1903) concerning the final years of a predecessor who lived to his ninety-second year in the house of his birth.

This volume is a loosely structured collection of miscellaneous memorabilia on Dumbauld descendants, a large portion of which concerns post-nineteen hundred families. Ernest Frederick Dumbauld and Elizabeth Hager were married before 1751 in Hagerstown, Maryland. Each of the book's eight chapters is names for their children, early American predecessors of the family: Nancy

Dumbauld Hay, Abraham Dumbauld, Sarah Dumbauld Stockberger, Peter Dumbauld, Barbara Dumbauld Robinson, Elizabeth Dumbauld McInturf, Rosina Dumbauld Slaughter, and Anna Maria Dumbauld. The chapters are made up of such diverse elements as short sketches of county history, maps, photos, a relationship chart, cemetery listings by state, and a two page listing of twins born in the Dumbauld family. This compiler's work bears the imprint of a truly dedicated family history buff who sincerely invites communication and information exchange.

Presented here is a compilation of research on Replogle descendants in America. The reader is at once impressed with its tightly structured format and its breadth of scope. The compilers, in concert with other members of the Replogle and Reprogle families in America, have amassed a vast quantity of data which is organized so it is readily accessible. John "Rinehart" Replogle married Barbara Konig October 8, 1753 in York County Pennsylvania and family tradition says they had fourteen children. The indices, by the compilers' count, contain both male and female lineages of 1,719 families with a total of more than 14,600 names. Most information is dated 1900 or earlier. Documentation, obviously an important problem in such an undertaking, is handled circumspectly in this superb family genealogy. Surnames other than the subject surname include Anderson, Ayers, Brown, Bucher, Coon, Cripe, Hostetter, Konig (King), McClean, Metzger, Miller, Morter, Roof, Shively, Standoff, and Stouder.

Lavishly illustrated with sixty-six plates which include original sketches along with reproductions of documents and photographs, this book reflects the considerable talents of its author. Nancy Warren Merritt is a design major with a degree in fine arts and, at the book's publication date, Art Director for the Washington News Bureau of the American Broadcasting Company. She writes with warmth and affection of the Merritt family's one hundred seventy years of its piece of Green County, Georgia farmland, which her ancestor, Lovett Merritt purchased in 1813. Love of family, pride in its attributes of strength and courage, and in its propensity for hard work are touchingly displayed throughout this truly beautiful family documentation.

GENEALOGICAL ABSTRACT OF MARRIAGES AND DEATHS FROM NASHVILLE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE 1846-1851 abstracted and indexed by Annie Sandifer Trickett. 1985. Hard back. 307 pp. Order from the author, 5809 Forest Lane, Dallas, TX 75230-2633. $27.00.

As stated in the introduction by the author, "Great effort was made to abstract enough for the reader to identify the subjects..." such as marriages, death dates and relationships, places where born, married, died or visited and military service. The full name index has 12,342 entries from the Nashville [TN] Christian Advocate, a Methodist weekly newspaper which included persons of various religions, but most were Methodists. Information is listed in order by volume, issue (with publication date), page and column number. All surnames are in bold face type within the entry.

The story of this Barron family begins in Talbot County, MD and traces the movement of its members as they migrated to "all parts west". The shorter edition contains all of the material from the colonial and revolutionary periods and follows John Barron (1749-1841) and his descendants to Pulaski Co, KY. This very detailed account is well-illustrated with maps from the early periods; it also contains a wealth of family charts and documented records. The allied lines of special interest to Tennessee researchers are the McBee, Carlton and Owens families of East Tennessee. Only brief sketches of these direct ancestors are included in the short edition, however they are dealt with in greater depth in the large edition. The index in the short edition includes all names in the large edition.
Volume A contains the records of Bonds, Wills, etc. taken in the Henry County Court. The date shown is when the document was executed. To conserve space the following abbreviations may be used: Bndsm = Bondsmen; Comm = Commissioner; Const = Constable; Gdn = Guardian; Mil Co = Militia Company. The number preceding the name is the page number in the will book.

perhaps well apply in this State at this time. And others make the proceedings against the offender so litigious and require such formalities as Greatly to obstruct the operation of the Same. - As no person but a freeholder can become an Informer and

ANCESTORS ARE WHERE YOU FIND THEM
Contributed by Mrs. Bernice Cargill, 738 Chulahoma Rd. South, Collierville, TN 38017

An advertisement from the Memphis Daily Eagle newspaper dated 3 Jan 1850 reads "The subscriber asks help in discovering the present residence of her daughters by a previous marriage -- Mary Ann and Sarah A. Maynes. They came to America from Ireland about 2 1/2 yrs ago; landed first at Boston and 3 or 4 months later to New Orleans, leaving the latter in 1847 for Cincinnati or St. Louis. Signed Julia Skerrith, c/o A.O. Harris, Memphis"
THOMAS CARR LETTERS - Submitted by Mrs. Ellen Byrne, 8600 Lancaster Dr.
Rohnert Park, CA 94928

After reading the Bettis-Carr genealogy in "Ansearchin" News 1985 Spring and Summer issues, Mrs. Byrne has contributed copies of two letters written by Thomas Carr. The originals are filed at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, VA. Notice that the biography printed in Memphis related that the family groups were bound for New Orleans when they landed in Memphis and decided to remain, while the Carr letter speaks of the families being bound for the Red River (possibly Texas).

The obituary of Thomas Carr was printed in the CENTRAL GAZETTE, Charlottesville, VA on 6 Jul 1821. "Died at his residence in Wilson Co TN 5th May 1821, Thomas Carr, aged 79 years, he has left a widow and a very numerous offspring to lament their loss; he was a native of Virginia, his father, Gideon Carr was the first settler of the north side of the S.W. mountain where the deceased lived until he was 65 years old. He had long been a respectable member of the Baptist Church. May his godly walk prove a blessing to all who knew him."

"Tenesee, Wilson Co., Comberlan River, Billots Ferry
Dear Bro:
I received your letter dated 29 Sept and was glad to hear of you all, etc, but I was serrous to hear that your parts was afflicted with the intemprecy of the weather frost, etc. I have often thought that these things happen for our good and I hope it will turmanate so to ous, all we have also a judgement in this part a fresh in the rivers and creeks such as was never seen before by anyone in these parts. Mr. Billote was at my house a Crismas day he says from the best information that can be got from the ingons and the oldest settlers a that side the river, it was over the low grounds about 30 years back, it was on now the damage that this fresh has done.

I have info from different men that there is much stock drowned, dwelling houses, corn hou smoke hou foder stacks wheat and otes, etc. I saw a man from Stones River, he sade there was much dammage don there alise, one man loose every house he had, all his fence, a mil, a saw mil and a cotton gin. I have heard of that was drowned a negro and white man, the white man was not known by them that found him and berrred him, he was seposed to be a sevaer, his sadelbags was found having a sevears compas in them, a bottle of whiskey, 9 dollars. My lows by the fresh was some 1 mile out of the mil, 200 pannels of fence, some parts throd down, som part moved out of place about 100 carred to the lower ent of the feild the bote past and repast across the field for several days together for a high cut, the water come in about 30 yard of the house I life in. It was neare a mile from one landing to the other the river is sade to be 280 yards wide at this place. It was a strange time of thunder and rane, it rand on fryday and Saterday, a Sunday the river was rising very fast. A Munday morning it was snoing very fast and continued all day Tuesday morning, the snow was 11 inches deep, close cloudy and misty all that day. Wensday morning there appeared a smoke to rise out of the earth through snow this caused the snow to melt so fast that the rodes and paths was in a flote of water at night, the same day it came cloudy and lightened so quick that there was but little intermistion between flash and peack know thunder til some time in the night, then rand and lightened and thunderd from that time til Thursday midnight and I believe it did not ceas one moment, the river continued rising a 11 days, it was 7 feet and a half perpendicular in the cornfield. There is another big survay 5 or 6 miles up the river from where I live.

Thomas Carr, Janry, Tenn 13th 1809

October 18, 1818, Tenessee, Wilson County, Combe1and River:
Dear and Near Relations, friends and acquaintances:
I am once more preveleged with a opertunity through the permition of the grate Judg of all that will do right to inform you of our health and surcomstance in time things. Richardson Carr's wife has bin sick about 5 months with a complant called Sant Anthonies fier but is now much mended. Gideon has been sick 4 or 5 weeks but is well and about. The old woman has bin afflicted 2 or 3 years with pains in her neas but seldom otherwise. Myself and the rest of conetions as fare as I know is enjoying common health. We have had a very wet season, much thunder and litening, the 17th of August, 2 trees fierd by litening in the cornfield about 200 yards from the house and about 300 yards apart. They burnt neare a wekk. Our crops of cotton better than has bin for 2 or 3 years back, good crops of corn, tobacco, wheat and oats. Corn at 1 dol. per barrell, wheat at 16 per bushel.

Our last crop of tobacco bring us about 7 dol. per 100 bu, not got the money. Our tobacco grew very large this year. I think there ___ be 2000 plants pict ou of 4000 that will make 1000 rd?. Three of my childrens bound for red river and will be inhabiters of that country unless providentally pervented, Gide, Tommy, Salley. They intend to start at crismas from the fery hare where I live down this river into the ohio, down that to the Massipy, down that to the mouth of the red river, thence up

It is thought by som that the women will be very troblesom, they are a mitey talking sort of peopel; when they have their liberty but being shet up in close preson with a passel of cros chilern perhaps I warrant it will be harder triel on the pashuns than ever they met with before. It is expected that when they gid on the Massissipy that they must all be blinde folded or shet up so close they cant see the water beleaving that the roreing rollein and fomeing waves of the water will so friten them that they must not see the water." Note: 4 more lines to this letter but heavily crossed out. There was apparently another sheet, now lost, as there was no signature. Comparison of the handwriting of this letter with a signed letter of Thomas Carr proves this to be written by the same.

Mrs. Byrne descends from Elizabeth Carr, daughter of Thomas Carr and Anne SANDERS, who married 1791 Albemarle Co VA to Martin BREEDLOVE. Cindrilla Breedlove married Thomas LOWERY in 1820 Warren Co KY.

To the Editor of "Peoples Press", Hernando, Desoto Co MS 7 Jun 1866

Dear Sir: Nearly five years ago I wrote to your paper from Camp Beauregard, KY. Permit me now to give through your column a short account of the Company since that time and the Roll of Honor of the gallant dead.

On Christmas Day of '61 we struck camp and started for Bowling Green in Gen. J.S. Bowen's Brig. Col. Bonham had died and our regiment was commanded by Lt. Col. Schaller. We shared in the movements of Gen. A.S. Johnston's army in the evacuation of Bowling Green and the march southward to the battle of Shiloh. We first met the enemy in that terrific battle and right nobly did Co. F deport itself during two days of battle. Several of Capt. Nesbit's Co. joined us during the fight. Maj. J. C. Thompson was wounded in my company and a gallant Alabamian, whose name I did not get, joined us and was killed. Our brave regiment was complimented by Gen. Bowen for its conduct and ever afterwards was a favorite with him who several times selected it to fill positions of danger and responsibility and Co. F stood high in the Regiment. We fought in Col. Stratham's Brigade, Breckenridge's Division.

From Shiloh we moved with the main army to Corinth and Tupelo - but was there separated from Gen. Bragg's army and sent to Abbeville, our Brigade doing the first work there. We remained at Vicksburg during the first summer's bombardment. We moved on to Baton Rouge and my company acted a conspicuous part in that little battle. The Regiment was especially complimented by Col. Smith, commanding Brigade and by Gen. Breckenridge - Capt. Hughes, commanding regiment was killed. M.C. Meagher of my Co. was recommended to the War Department by Gen. Breckenridge for promotion for gallantry in action and was subsequently commissioned 1st Lieut. Three flag bearers had been shot down and the Ensign was a special mark for the enemy but Mike voluntarily seized the flag and boldly bore it to the front using his rifle at the same time.

We moved one dark and stormy night to Port Hudson and commenced the works of that place under Gen. Ruggles. From that point we moved northward - stopped a few days at Davis' Mills and on the 3rd and 4th of Oct were engaged in the bloody battle of Corinth in Lovell's Div. The 22nd Regiment was sent forward to support a battalion of Sharpshooters before any engagement had taken place - numbering but 380 rank and file under Col. Lester. We charged the works in our front and captured them, driving off five Regts of Federals who left a splendid gun "the Lady Richardson" in our hands and their ditches filled with dead. Co. F acquitted itself admirably in two days of constant action. On the second morning I was seriously wounded and disabled for service, was promoted and Lieut. D.T. Oliver was made captain of the company.

From Corinth the company moved to Holly Springs, from thence to Grenada when it was placed in Gen. Featherston's Brigade, Loring's Div., where it remained during the war - sharing all the hard fortunes of that part of the army - in the Deer Creek expedition, the Baker's Creek fight, the bombardment of Jackson, the retreat to Newton Station and back again to Canton. Thence retreating before Sherman to Demopolis, from thence to Gen. Johnston's army in Georgia - serving gallantly in that campaign till the fall of Atlanta, then under Hood to Nashville and back again to N. Carolina.

This noble company numbering 102 when organized at Cold Water Depot on 27th Jul 1861 and subsequent additions bringing the list up to 139 - returned home a mere handful - a large majority having died in Hospitals, on the battlefield or disabled from service and honorably discharged. A few were transferred to other companies. This was the first company from Desoto that volunteered for 3 years or the war - and right nobly did those gallant volunteers deport themselves in the manly struggle for our rights and our liberties.

The original officers of the company were Capt. C.G. Nelms, a brave, liberal and patriotic soldier who loved not war but entered the army from a sense of duty to his country and fell a martyr to the cause. Soon after the organization of the company he was made Major of the Regiment by appointment of the President and at the first gun of the enemy at our Regiment at Shiloh he fell wounded through both knees and died one week afterwards. I was 1st Lieut., made Capt. when Major Nelms was promoted. D T Oliver was 2nd Lieut, made Captain when I was promoted. Capt. Oliver fell upon the breastworks leading his company in that awful charge at Franklin, TN - shot through the head - and now fills a patriotic soldiers grave. D C Lauderdale was 3rd Lieut, a braver man was not in the Confederate army. He was wounded in the bowels during a charge upon the enemy the second day of the battle of Shiloh and was left in the hands of the enemy. He must have died that day. To fill vacancies A W Huddleson, T H W Wall, W H Hancock and W G Caruthers were made Lieutenants.

Justice to these patriots demand an individual notice from me - but the list speaks for itself. They were good soldiers in every sense of the word and if standing by the grave of either, I could truly say - here lies a brave and gallant soldier who died not a hireling but a Volunteer for his country's independence. A marble monument should be erected to the memory of DeSoto's fallen braves and I trust we shall ere long see a tall shaft in Hernando bearing the names of all our Martyred Heroes. Respectfully yours
T. C. Dockery

EDLEY M. HOUSTON'S RECOLLECTIONS - Contributed by Jamye Wilson, 1601 Carlson Drive, Klamath Falls Oregon 97603

The following letter appeared in a Fort Payne, AL newspaper dated 19 Apr 1915. "In reply to your request for letters from early settlers, I was born in Tennessee on September 18, 1829. Moved with my parents to Jackson County [AL] to Paint Rock when five years old, then on to DeKalb [Co AL] the third of January 1843, about five years after the Indians had been taken West.

We lived one year three miles below Lebanon which was then the county seat and a flourishing little town. Quite a number of dwellings of logs and Hamptons large tavern. The land office was there at the time too. The next year we moved to Sand Mountain. We had to carry part of our stuff on horses up the mountain as there was not a single wagon between the Smith and Roden gaps.

Uncle Billie NICHOLSON and his boys (13) together with my father and his boys made the road up the Nicholson gap. When it was done, we finished moving. Mr. Nicholson having put about one hundred and thirty days work on the road and my father eighty-four. Our home on the Mountain was near Geraldine. I helped out on the first road across that part of the mountain running from Nicholson Gap (now Dawson) by Geraldine and Elrod's mill (Briggs it was then) to Tennessee Valley.

The mountain was mild, beautiful and full of interest. I think it was the easiest place to make a living I ever saw. Game was abundant, with little effort could kill all the deer and wild turkey we wanted. The range was fine. Hogs were fat in the woods nearly the year around. The woods for miles around us were nearly full of cattle at that time for men from the valleys raised their cattle there. No feed in winter was necessary. Our neighbors were few. The nearest one two miles away. It was several years before the first church was built, Lusk Chapel, the oldest one that I know of was built in 1846 I think. Macedonia near Geraldine was the second one. We had preaching occasionally at dwellings.

I had lived in DeKalb seventy-three years with the exception of two years in the Army. Am now in my eighty-sixth year. Yours, Edley M. Houston"

Edley's parents, Billy Houston and Polly CLARK, along with 5 sons and 6 daughters moved to the top of the mountain to Geraldine where they built a log cabin near the present home of Dr. Briggs PARRIS. Mr. Tommy CAPEHART, who lived at the present Lathenville, was their nearest neighbor. Two or three families lived at Henagar.

When the Federal Land Office opened at Huntsville people could file claims on land they wished to own. Before Billy Houston had time to file the claim to the land he had cleared, Mr. SPARKS filed a claim on it. The result was a heated quarrel in which Billy forbade Sparks to pass along the road. Some of the men nearby persuaded Billy to agree that Sparks might pass along the road if he would not look at the house as he passed. Sparks withdrew his claim and Billy filed his claim retaining his home.

One of Billy's sons, Tom, a bachelor, filed a claim to the place now owned by Mr. Toll HALL. He kept a water grist-mill near the Elrod Bridge for a number of years. His unmarried sister, Mary (called Pop) and a widowed sister, Mrs. Jane MAY, lived with him. This information was related to Lottie LOWRY by Thomas D. Houston and Eliza Houston WIGLEY, a son and daughter of Edley M. Houston.

OBITUARY

Submitted by R. F. Simpson, Jr., 4522 Garnett Rd., Memphis, TN 38117

Southern Advocate, Huntsville, AL - Dec. 14, 1849

Obit. Again has the fearful summons of death been heard and answered in our midst. But we mourn not as those without hope. When God calls shall not the ready spirit fly to meet him. Amanda Nowlin Coleman was born in Davidson Co., Tenn. on 11 July 1809 & was in her 41st year at the time of her death. She was the daughter of William & Sarah Bibb, both of whom lived for many years & died in the immediate vicinity of this place. When she was but a mere girl her parents removed and settled down within sight of Huntsville. At the age of 16 or 17 she united with the Methodist church in which she remained until her death. She was married on the 2nd day of Oct 1828 to William H. Dennett by who she had 2 children - William & James. Her 1st husband died Sept 18, 1839. She was again married on 6th day of June 1841 to John J. Coleman. She departed this life most suddenly on Friday morning 7th day of Dec 1849 at 5 o'clock. She left 2 little children by her last husband, John William Walker & Amanda Norelean Graves; the former about 6 & latter under 3 years of age.
