TGS SURNAME INDEX FILE

Members can obtain information from this file by writing TGS. Give the full name of the ancestor you are researching, at least one date and one location, and enclose a self-addressed, stamped #10 envelope. If the information is available, you will receive two photocopy pages of up to 10 surname cards of your ancestors, including the name and address of the person who submitted the information. Any other data, if available, will be supplied at 50 cents per page (five cards to a page). Please limit requests to one a month, and to one family name per request. Type or print on 3x5" index cards your ancestor’s name; birth, death, and marriage dates and places; and names of parents and spouse(s). In the bottom left-hand corner, put your name, address, and the date submitted. If you have not sent in your own surname data, please do so as soon as possible.

TENNESSEE ANCESTRY CERTIFICATES

TGS sponsors this program to recognize and honor the settlers who came to Tennessee before 1880. To place your ancestors in this roll of honor, request an application from Mrs. Jane Paessler, Certificate Program Director, at TGS. Complete and return it with supporting documents or other proof of your ancestor’s residency. (Family charts or computer printouts are not considered sufficient proof.) Each application must be accompanied by a $10 fee. Attractive certificates suitable for framing are issued to each person whose application meets program qualifications. Certificates list the prime ancestor’s name, when and where he or she settled in Tennessee, and the applicant’s name and address.

BOOKS, MICROFILM, AND COMPUTER DISKS

donated to the TGS Library should be mailed to Librarian Loretta Bailey at TGS headquarters. If a book review is desired, please indicate and include the cost of the book and where readers can place orders. Memorials are welcomed.

ARTICLES from the Tennessee Genealogical Magazine can be reproduced provided credit is given. Please cite volume and issue number, and include our name and address.
IF YOU HAVEN'T YET TRIED LDS' 1880 U.S. census at www.familysearch.org, treat yourself. You'll be amazed at how easy it is to find long-lost persons — even if you have no idea of which state or what part of the country they may have wandered off to. Just enter the name you're looking for -- and voila!

In doing some research for an upcoming feature, I had found it seemingly impossible to find what became of a young woman whose husband had died in the 1873 yellow fever epidemic. Mostly out of curiosity, I punched her name into the LSD census one day ... and in seconds, her name came up. By 1880, it developed, she was living in California with her son (whom I didn't know she had) who was named for his father. Ages, birthplaces, etc., all checked out correctly. Since the boy's father was born in Switzerland, that made it all the easier to verify.

Genealogists owe a huge vote of thanks to The Church of Christ of Latter Day Saints and all the LSD volunteers who entered the data into this fantastic program.

IF OBION COUNTY was the settling spot for some of your ancestors, you'll be interested to know that a wide variety of its county court records from the 1820s to 1950 are now available on microfilm at the Paul Meek Library at the University of Tennessee at Martin.

Included are county, criminal, and chancery court documents as well as records of marriages, divorces, births, deaths, wills, estate settlements, deeds, naturalizations, inquests, judgments, and miscellaneous papers.

Some of the papers were sealed in metal boxes that hadn't been opened since the Obion County Courthouse was moved from Troy to Union City in the late 1800s, and most hadn't been touched since they were originally filed. The project -- another product of dedicated volunteers -- took six years to complete, and eight couples from the Genealogical Society of Utah traveled to Tennessee to do the microfilming.

Local volunteers sifted through the original records, unfolding, cleaning, mending, ironing, and organizing them for the microfilming process. One of the volunteers, Margaret Payne of Union City, worked on the project five days a week for six years. Wow! TGS could use a hundred like her -- well, even three or four would be a tremendous help. One?

RUBY PRUETT, who contributed an article for our last issue about her great-great grandfather, James M. Green of McMinnville, Tenn., is impressed with the response she had.

One was an inquiry from as far away as Hockessin, Delaware, requesting additional information on branches of the Green family.

Ruby recently presented a copy of the issue containing the article to the Magness Memorial Library in McMinnville. ■
TGS’ Newest Publication Gives Recognition To Confederate Heroes on Roll of Honor

The Tennessee Genealogical Society’s newest publication, The Confederate States of America Roll of Honor, promises to be of interest not only to Civil War buffs, but to historians and genealogists as well.

The men listed on the roll of honor include commissioned officers recommended by a superior, and privates or non-commissioned officers elected by fellow soldiers for helping achieve a signal victory. Each company was authorized to elect one private or non-commissioned officer from its unit for the honor, but it is not known how many were actually named.

“We wish the records of all unit selections had survived,” says TGS president James E. Bobo who compiled the list of recipients and related information, “but we can publish only the names found in the Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies.”

The roll carries the names of almost 2,100 soldiers representing all of the Confederate states.

“Honor is generally denied known and unknown heroes of the nation that loses a war or ceases to exist,” Bobo added, “and this collection is offered to address that injustice because, regardless of the motivation for patriot soldiers, these men — at that time and at that place — were heroes.”

Surnames on the roll run from Abbott to Young, with the most frequently appearing name being Smith. Thirty-four of the honored men were Smiths, followed in order by soldiers named Jones, Moore, Williams, Brown, Johnson, and Wilson. The most recognized honoree was Corp. Samuel L. Neely/ Neeley who was elected to the roll of honor five times before being mortally wounded in August 1864 at the battle of Weldon Railroad in Virginia. A native of Tennessee, he was living in Rienzi, Miss., in 1861 when he enlisted at age 19 in the Tishomingo Riflemen which became Company A of the 2nd Regiment of Mississippi Volunteers.

Of particular interest to the historian is the book’s brief history of military medals for gallantry; documents relative to the establishment of the Roll of Honor, and battle reports resulting in the award. Genealogists will be especially interested in the lists of recipients’ names, military units, and some biographical information. Names are sorted alphabetically by individual and by state and military unit.

The softcover book, priced at $15 plus $4 postage and handling, is available from TGS at 9114 Davies Plantation Road, Brunswick, Tenn., or can be ordered by mail at P.O. Box 247, Brunswick, TN 38014-0247.

Having a hard time finding proof that your ancestor served in the Civil War? Maybe you haven’t looked in all the right places.

If you’ve checked Tennessee pension lists and failed to find his name, you might try looking at other states’ lists. Civil War veterans or their widows were required to file pension applications in the state where they were residing at the time of filing — not in their home state nor in the state where they were living when they enlisted.

A surprising number of former Tennesseans can be found, for instance, in Florida Confederate Pension Application Files. The Florida State Archives has scanned and put online official copies of some 14,000 pension claims granted and rejected in the state from 1885 to 1954. The process involved more than 200,000 color images. Among the Florida Confederate pension applications are 153 filed by former Tennesseans and/or their widows.

The Florida legislature authorized its first Confederate pensions in 1885, with individual payments being $5 a month. Over the next three decades, new pension bills were introduced in almost every session of the legislature that followed. Residency requirements and financial qualifications were added and adjusted, widows and militia members were made eligible, and pension payments and their method of distribution changed numerous times.

Most of the files contain the original application, any supplemental application, proof of the veterans’ service and Florida residency, and occasionally correspondence. Applications of veterans and their widows are combined and are filed under the veteran’s name. In checking through a veteran’s file, you can generally find his full name, date and place of birth, name of the unit he served in, and when and where he enlisted and was discharged. The application also includes a brief description of his service, any wounds received, sworn statements by at least two of his comrades proving his service, War Department abstracts regarding his service, and the place and length of his residency in Florida.

For example, it can be learned from the pension application of William S. Allen¹ that he was born 9 Nov 1841 in Henry Co., Tenn., and married Cynthia A. Caton in Texas. In the first year of the war, he returned to Tennessee and enlisted at Memphis on 15 Sep 1861 in Co. D of Forrest’s 3rd Tennessee Cavalry. After the fall of Fort Donelson, he returned to Hempstead, Tex., and served in the 23rd Texas Cavalry for the remainder of the war, being paroled 29 May 1865. His military service was vouched for by A. P. Dick of Red River Co., Tex., who served with him under Gen. Nathan B. Forrest and also in the Texas Cavalry. Comrades attesting to his service in the Texas Cavalry were Capt. John Allison and O. B. Baker, both of Red River County. William became a medical doctor and on 8 Feb 1904, he and his wife moved to Alva, Fla., in Lee County. On 18 Sep 1912 — almost 71 years old and unable to practice medicine “because of the disability accompanying old age” — Dr. Allen applied for a pension. He stated that he owned no property except for household goods valued at about $300. His application was approved 4 Aug 1913, and he died 25 June 1916 in Lee County. Cynthia’s application for a widow’s pension, dated 14 Aug 1916, was approved.

A widow’s application generally includes similar information to that of her husband’s, plus her full name, the date and place of their marriage, and the date and place of his death.

From the application of Blanche (Williams) Carter [A02638], for instance, it can be learned that she was the widow of Confederate veteran W. W. Carter ² who died 10 Mar 1896 in Cocke Co., Tenn. The couple was married 1st Oct 1876 in Barbour Co., Ala., and a friend, B. S. Franklin of Palm Beach Co., Fla., swore he was present at their marriage which was performed by the Rev. S. W. Rogers, Baptist minister of Barbour County. War Department records show Carter, a Greenville, Tenn., resident enlisted at Mossy Creek 24 June 1861 in Co. 1, 2nd Regiment [Ashby’s] of Tennessee, was wounded at the battle of Chickamauga [in September 1862], and was still in the hospital at the time of the Nov-Dec 1864 muster roll. He was captured 2 April 1865 at Bull’s Gap, Tenn., and was released 17 June 1865 at Louisville, Ky., after taking the oath of allegiance. An affidavit from Cocke Co.,

1 His middle name was Sutton.
2 His initials stood for Wilbur Wesley.
Tenn., signed by S. A. Burnett and Joe J. Burnett before Notary Public M. N. Stokely, verified the date of Carter's death and revealed he died in the Del Rio community of Cocke County. Commissioners of Indian River Co., Fla., reported Blanche had been a citizen of Florida for eight years, and recommended that she be granted a pension. She was living in Wabasso in Indian River Co., Fla., when applying for a pension. Her claim was approved 19 Feb 1926.

Digital copies of the pension files can be downloaded from http://dlis.dos.state.fl.us/barn/PensionFiles.html without charge. An Adobe Acrobat Reader is required for downloading the file, and those not having this program can download it from the Florida site, also at no cost. The files can be accessed by the surname of the veteran or the widow, or by the file number.

Official copies of pension files can be ordered from the Florida State Archives, R. A. Gray Building, Tallahassee, FL 32399-0250 for a flat fee of $7.50 per file. Checks should be made payable to the Florida Department of State. Credit card orders can be placed by phone at (850) 245-6700. The same number can be called for further information.

Here are the names of Tennesseans found in the Florida Confederate pension lists, along with each person's file number, widow's name (if she filed), place of residency and date of filing, and number of pages in the file:

3 They referred to him as 'Dr. W. W. Carter.'

4 If downloading the file, you will find that the soldier's file number, name, state, wife's name, and place of filing comes up first. To find the page numbers, click on the soldier's pension number in the first column and it will give the complete list of pages in the file. The most lengthy files for Tennessean were 48 pages for Robert A. Reid and 45 for James Joseph Ketchum. The longer files generally contain both the veteran's pension application and his widow's. Each page is brought up individually and you click on the page number to bring it up. You might want to start with Page 2 since Page 1 is simply the file cover and only gives the file number which you already have.

5 His name appears in the actual file as "Carroll" — no "e." His application shows he enlisted 1 May 1862 in Capt. Johnson's Company at Memphis, Tenn., and served with the First Tennessee Heavy Artillery, being elected first lieutenant. On 1 Sep 1863 he went with Armstead's Cavalry Regiment in Mississippi and served under Capt. Alex Moore. Carroll was born 12 Aug 1832 in Gloucester Co., Va.

7 Hanson was born in Hardeman Co., Tenn., 14 Oct 1834. He enlisted in Capt. Glenn's Company at Des Arc, Ark., in 1861. He served in Gen. Price's Regiment and then was transferred to Gen. Cleburne's. He was at Gainesville on the Tombigbee River in Alabama when the war ended and then was paroled. Married Maria Estes at Bartlett (Shelby Co.), Tenn., on 14 Aug 1879. Maria was born in Columbia, Maury Co., Tenn., 12 Dec 1837. She and Gustave moved to Tampa, Hillsborough Co., Fla., in Nov 1881. He died there 10 Mar 1909.

8 Kelsey was born 19 Jan 1834 in Maury Co., Tenn. He married Eliza Rainey 6 June 1856 in Lawrence Co., Tenn. On 1 Jul 1862 he enlisted in Co. A, 23d Tenn. Regiment and later was in 9th Tenn. Cavalry. Was paroled in the spring of 1865. The Kelseys moved to Stanton, Marion Co., Fla., on 19 Mar 1864. He was granted a Confederate pension in 1909, and died in Marion County 10 May 1913.

11 Massay was b. 8 Aug 1844 in Madison Co., Tenn., enlisted in Co. A, 14th Tenn. Regiment at Moscow, Tenn., about 1st May 1861. Was in battles of Shiloh, Franklin, Perryville, Murfreesboro, and others. Discharged 5 May 1865 at Gainesville, Ala. Married Clifford L. Thomas 8 June 1863 in Cook Co., Ark., and moved to Florida in 1892. He died there 24 May 1915.
12 War Department records show he was a private in Co. F, 59th Tennessee Infantry, C.S.A., was taken prisoner 25 Jul 1864 at Winchester, Va., and confined in Old Capitol Prison, Washington. Was released 29 May 1865 at Elmira, N.Y. Later War Department reported there was no record of his having served in the 59th. In his application, Mitchell said he was born 11 Feb 1833 in Henry Co., Ala., and enlisted 13 May 1861 at Lauderdale Springs, Miss., in Co. F, 13th Mississippi Regiment in Capt. Cannon McElroy's Company. He said he was captured at Knoxville, Tenn.
14 Rebecca Sayers' maiden name appears to have been Pieman rather than Pieman. She was born in Lee Co., Va., 4 Oct 1855. William G. Sayers enlisted in Bill Gibb's Co., Volunteer Cavalry of Tennessee, at Knoxville in Apr 1862 and served in Kentucky and Florida. During the last two years of the war, according to Rebecca's application, he was on detail at Fort Valley, Ga., as a wheelwright and blacksmith. The War Department on two occasions reported it was unable to find a record of his service because of the meager data furnished. Sayers died 24 Feb 1901 in Perry, Taylor Co., Fla.

15 J. Frank Smith, born in Henry Co., Tenn., 19 Jan 1834, enlisted in Capt. J. H. Lang's Company (B), 5th Tenn., Regiment, on 20 May 1861 in Henry Co., Tenn. He was discharged in Nov 1862 because of an eye infection that was affecting his vision. In 1902, in support of his pension application, two physicians submitted sworn statements saying he still suffered from the same eye infection and was unable to do manual labor. Smith died in Winter Garden, Orange Co., Fla., 27 Dec 1907. His wife's maiden name was Martha E. Cauley.

16 Nathan enlisted at Collierville (Shayly Co.), Tenn., 12 Oct 1861 in Co. A, 38th Infantry Regiment of Tennessee. Through Gen. Braxton Bragg, he was appointed hospital steward by special order signed by Assistant Adjutant General John Withers at Richmond, Va., on 17 Aug 1863. He was discharged at Greensboro, N.C., 21 Apr 1865 and paroled 14 May. Nathan married Mary Henriett Rowleth (born 21 May 1848) at Collierville on 26 Dec 1866. [This was verified on her pension application by W. M. Rowlett and J. J. Biggs.] Nathan died Nov 1878 in Marshall Co., Miss., and Mary H. moved to Palmetto (Manatee Co.), Fla., on 17 June 1885. She had lived in Tennessee from 1878 to 1885.

17 The name of Noah Taylor's wife should be Cordelia Cheek. [Confirmed by Noah Taylor Family Bible which can be found on the internet at http://www.tawl.org/documents/noah_bible.pdf submitted by Miller Taylor, Oak Ridge, Tenn. (miller@wwtaylor.org).] She was his second wife, his first - Nancy Hawkins Taylor - having died. Pension file shows Noah and Cordelia married 28 Nov 1877 in Mississippi Co., Ark. Noah was a former resident of Friendship, Crockett Co., Tenn. He enlisted at Trenton, Tenn., in Capt. Gay's Co. B, 47th Tennessee Infantry Regiment on 1st Dec 1861. Cordella's pension application was rejected on the grounds that the last record found by the War Department showed Noah absent from muster roll on 30 Apr 1863 with the remark, "Dropped for desertion." However, according to Benjamin H. Harmon, a lieutenant in the same company and after the war a lawyer and notary public in Maury City, Jackson Co., Tenn., Taylor fought at Shiloh, Richmond and Perryville, Ky., Munfreesboro, Chilicahau, and in numerous skirmishes near Atlanta. James N. Harris, who enlisted in Co. B, 47th Tennessee Regiment on 8 Dec 1861, also signed an affidavit as to Taylor's service. Widow's application stated Noah was discharged in 1865. On 19 Dec 1877, Noah and Cordelia moved to Florida. He died in Bradford Co., Fla., on 17 Jan 1900. According to the family Bible, Cordella died 18 Feb 1926.
Thoughtful Tennesseans began urging the establishment of a state penitentiary as early as 1813, but it would be 18 years before it became a reality.

The Tennessee General Assembly did not exactly warm to the idea. To stave off the advocates, the legislators passed a resolution on 13 Nov 1815 directing county court clerks to keep “subscription papers” on hand in case any citizens wanting to help defray the costs of establishing a state penitentiary could sign a pledge to donate whatever sum they wished to a building fund. Unlike today’s money-raising drives, there were no TV ads, telephone solicitations, direct mail requests, or door-to-door campaignings to encourage gift-giving. And in some cases, getting to the courthouse could be a day-long journey. Even so, when it came to financial contributions, Tennessee volunteering in those days was not nearly so impressive as its military enlistments.

After two years of court clerks’ stewardship of subscription papers, donations — statewide — totaled only $1,600. As the paltry sum suggests, few Tennesseans were willing to contribute to the fund and individual pledges ranged from a quarter to a couple of dollars in most instances.

Two of Maury County’s contributors pledged 6½ cents each. Horatio De Priest, Maury circuit court clerk, included a note to the Tennessee legislators with his county’s returns, stating, “I do believe there are a large majority of people in Maury County in favor of a Penitentiary in this state but will not subscribe as they think it ought to be done by way of taxation.”

Some counties had no pledges at all. In Franklin County, for instance, Edmund Russell, clerk of the Court of Pleas & Quarter Session, certified on 8 Sep 1817 that no person had signed subscription papers since the last session of the legislature. Campbell County reported no subscribers appeared during the two-year period. Matthew Rhea, Sullivan County clerk, also indicated there were no takers of the state’s generous offer. John Alcorn, Wilson County clerk, certified his county had no subscribers, but a list of county contributions — apparently written by a clerk of the General Assembly -- shows $3 in pledges from a father and son in Wilson County. Simeon Perry, Sevier County clerk, reported 11 Sep 1817 that he had received no subscription papers from justices of the peace in his county. One William Moore, whose county was not listed, contributed $10 to the cause in 1816.

In 1819, Gov. Joseph McMinn urged the legislature to take action on the establishment of a state penitentiary and suggested that the State Bank make a loan to fund its construction. A bill on the matter did reach the floor, but was defeated because the lawmakers were unable to agree on where the facility should be built. East Tennesseans wanted it in Knoxville, and Middle Tennesseans maintained it should be built west of the Cumberland Plateau. It would be another decade before the political “brick wall” finally gave way under the leadership of Gov. William Carroll. During his fourth and final term, the legislature appropriated $25,000 for a penitentiary to be built within two miles of Nashville. The site selected was on Church Street and construction began in April 1830. It contained 200 prison cells, a storehouse, hospital, and warden’s living quarters. By the time its doors opened to 36 convicts on 1st Jan 1831, construction of the penitentiary ended up costing $65,000.

With the penitentiary at last in place, the General Assembly — again under Gov. Carroll’s prodding — reformed the state’s criminal code. Whipping, branding, the pillory, and the use of stocks were abolished, along with the death penalty for such crimes as horse-stealing.

While the voluntary subscription campaign of 1816-1817 was woefully unsuccessful, the lists of subscribers are extremely useful to genealogists seeking to learn where their Tennessee ancestors were at this particular period. Not every county in the state submitted a list to the legislature, but those that were submitted can be found on microfilm of petitions to the General Assembly produced by the Tennessee State Library and Archives [Roll No. 5, Legislative Petitions 1815-1817], and these appear on succeeding pages.

2 Later on in some counties, as contributions lagged, justices of the peace were appointed to solicit funds.
JEFFERSON COUNTY PENITENTIARY SUBSCRIPTIONS, 1817

A copy of penitentiary subscriptions kept by Joseph Hamilton, Jefferson County circuit court clerk, with returns from the county’s justices of the peace, was submitted to the Tennessee legislature in 1817. The three-page copy was dated 6 Sept 1817 at Dandridge, and signed by Deputy Clerk Joseph Hamilton, Jr. The lists that follow were transcribed from Microfilm Roll No. 5, “Legislative Petitions 1815-1817,” produced by the Tennessee State Library & Archives, Nashville. Names in the list are not in the same order in which they appeared on the original petition but have been rearranged in alphabetical order by surnames for easier research. In several instances, the same name appears twice in different places in the original petition suggesting that the individual may have contributed to the fund more than once. The Jefferson list is numbered 13-1817-1, 13-1817-2, and 13-1817-3 on the microfilm.

"In Our Exchanges"

INFORMATION from a family Bible presented to Penelope S. Williams by her husband, Richard B. Williams, in June 1873 is reproduced in The Southern Genealogists Exchange Quarterly, Vol. 44, No. 185, published in Jacksonville, Fla. The badly damaged Bible was given to the G. Howard Bryan Museum of Southern History by Charles T. Williams of Jacksonville. A marriage certificate indicates the couple was married 28 Nov 1872 at Clarksville, Tenn., by [Rev.] J. W. Lupton. Richard's home is listed as Clarksville and Penelope's as Franklin, Tenn. Births recorded in the Bible — most in faded ink — list R. B. as having been born 1st Nov 1839, and Penelope S. de Graffenried on 27 Sep 1850.

Their children: Mary Minor (b. 25 Sep 1873), Flora Dixie (18 Oct 1874), Thomas Fontaine (1 Feb 1876), Richard Madison (b. 25 May 1877), John Dabney (no date), P. S. (21 Nov 1878), James Bruce (23 Sep 1880), Benjamin Maury (31 Aug 1883), Susie Russ (19 Mar 1885), Margaret McLemore (23 Sep 1890), and Robert Allanson Williams (28 Jul 1892). Two of their children died young. Flora Dixie died when she was 12 days old (on 30 Oct 1874) and Richard Madison when he was a month old (25 June 1877).

Penelope died 12 Mar 1917, and Richard 5 Jul 1919. Marriage entries in the Bible are faded beyond readability. Death entries indicate that daughter Susie married Lucas, and Margaret married a Reasons. Found in the Bible was a 1958 newsletter published by McKendree Methodist Church, Nashville, and addressed to Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Williams at 946 E. Clayton Ave., Nashville.

THREE John Finleys -- and perhaps more -- were living in Knox Co., Tenn., at least part of the time between 1790-1820, according to an article in The Virginia Genealogist, Vol. 46, No. 4. One John Finley, a land speculator from Franklin Co., Pa., was the son of James and Jane (Rippey) Finley and may have married Margaret Kerr on 13 Nov 1793. Another John Finley appeared on 1804-1812 tax lists. He was under 50 years of age when he died before Jul 1817, and likely was married to Liddy Grove on 12 June 1804. A third John Finley was granted 78 acres in Knox County in 1810. He is believed to have been over 50 since he was not assessed a poll tax. A fourth John Finley purchased land on Wolf River some 75 miles from Knoxville near the Kentucky border. Another John Finley was the father of William Finley of Jefferson Co., Tenn. William's daughter, Mary "Polly" Finley, was the wife of Davy Crockett.

JOHN SCOTT JAMES, born 11 Apr 1812 in Monroe Co., Tenn., died 14 Jan 1887 in Benton Co., Ark., according to The Backracker, Vol. 32, No. 1. Son of William and Nancy (Scott) James, natives of North Carolina and Virginia, respectively. John married Rebecca Caroline Evans 15 Mar 1838 in Monroe County. Had nine children. Four born in Tennessee: Mary Eglantine, b. 14 Mar 1839; Cornelia Josephine, b. 16 Jul 1842; Wm. Aurelius, b. 12 Aug 1844; and Sam'l Oscar James, b. 25 Oct 1854 in McMinn County. Others born in Georgia. John and Rebecca migrated to Benton Co., Ark., where he died 14 Jan 1887 and she died 12 Apr 1892. They and two of their sons buried in Maysville Cemetery.

STEPHEN MERRILL of Tennessee made an apprenticeship agreement in 1823 in Lauderdale Co., Ala., binding his 18-year old son, James M. Merrill, to James Sample to learn to make and lay bricks. The agreement, recorded in Lauderdale County Deed Book A2, is reproduced in Valley Leaves, Vol. 37, No. 3, Huntsville, Ala.

The same issue notes that Nathan and Rebecca (Sivley) Davis were living in Rutherford Co., Tenn., while their daughter of paralytic insanity. Another story by Inman is that El- nathan and Rebecca (Sivley) Davis were living in Rutherford Co., Tenn., in Nov 1818. They married in Madison County 14 Jan 1817. Rebecca, the heir of Jacob Sivley, had a brother Andrew, and other siblings.

THE OBITUARY of John T. O. Wilbar, Sr., from the Bristol News of 2 Feb 1872 is reprinted in the Holston Fastfinder, Vol. 21, No. 3. Born in London, England, he was brought by his parents to Alexandria, Va., while an infant. At maturity he entered the mercantile business. He died 18 Jan 1872 of paralysis at age 79.
Persistence does pay off. My great-great grandmother, Susan M. (Tigret) Neeley, was a good example of that. When her first claim for reimbursement of supplies that Union soldiers took from her farm during the Civil War was rejected in 1872, she filed a second time. Seven years later, her claim was recognized.

A native Tennesseean, Susan was born at Franklin County in 1820, being one of at least 11 children born to Samuel B. and Bell Tigret. In about 1825, she moved with her family to Madison Co., Tenn., where on 4 Aug 1838 she married Thomas Jefferson "Tom" Neeley. Born 4 Oct 1806 at Surry Co., N. C., he was the son of James and Sally (Kirby) Neeley. Susan and Thomas are listed in the 1840 Madison County census in their own household, but, during that decade, moved to Tippah Co., Miss., along with siblings from both their families. With the relocation of the Chickasaw Indians to Oklahoma, land in that part of North Mississippi had become available through homesteading and speculative selling.

During the war, federal troops made several excursions through Tippah County. During one of them, the county courthouse and other buildings in Ripley were burned. In May 1863, Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis and a company of his troops came to Tippah County during a time when they were "living off of the land," so to speak. They took whatever food and other supplies they needed from local citizens. One of the farms they raided was that of Susan and Tom Neeley.

Tom died of colic in Jan 1870 at the age of 59.1

On 3 Mar 1871 Congress passed an appropriations act that provided for payment of "Claims of Loyal Citizens for Supplies Furnished during the Rebellion." Susan submitted such a claim on 17 Apr 1872 and, after meeting with no success, filed a second claim 12 June 1877. In her two claims, she listed the following items as having been taken by Sturgis and his men:

<table>
<tr>
<th>Item</th>
<th>Value</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>One horse</td>
<td>$150</td>

<tr>

Susan's combined claims (No. 6302 and No. 12781) were taken at Ripley by John T. Mosely, U. S. commissioner for the Northern Division of Mississippi. At that time, she was living on a farm about seven miles southeast of town. Neighbors and friends giving sworn testimony as to the loyalty of Susan and her late husband Tom to the Union cause were Benjamin Barkley, J. A. Thomas, Mary E. Neeley, S. J. Burton, and Thurman Maddox. They attested that Tom was strongly opposed to the war and could become quite emotional in discussing secession. They also noted that he took this position even though his nephew, Alexander Neeley (son of Tom's brother, James Wilson Neeley),2 was in the Confederate Army and his brother-in-law, David Porter Tigret (Susan's brother) was a captain in the Confederate Army.

Tom was quoted as saying that if his own son, William Thomas Jefferson, had been old enough to go into the Army, he would have "run him North to keep the Confederates from getting him."

1 Information from the 1870 census. He is buried in Jacob's Chapel Cemetery (Clark's Schoolhouse Graveyard) lb Buena Vista Road about four miles southeast of Ripley, Miss. Susan is believed to be buried in the same cemetery.

2 Due to their political differences, Tom and his brother James had little contact with each other during the war.
Only $304 of Susan’s $516 claim was allowed.³
I found a listing of her claim in Betty Wilshire’s book, *Requests for Costs of Damages During War Made to the U.S. Government Between 1871-1880.*⁴ It lists claims by states and claimant names, and gives the claim number and the claimant’s county of residence. I requested a copy of Susan’s claim from the National Archives in Washington. The response came from the National Archives & Records Administration (NARA) at 8601 Adelphi Rd., College Park, Md.20740-6001, which sent me an order form with instructions, and informed me the cost of copying the claim would be 50 cents per page. I also learned that Susan’s two claims totaled 47 pages. From inquiry to receipt of my copy of the claims took about two months. Paper copies of case files approved by the Southern Claims Commission can be obtained per instructions.

In reading an article on the history of Tippah County, I noticed that the home on the Neeley place was burned by the Yankees to get Rebel soldiers out of the house where they were hiding. I had always assumed that was the reason for the claim, but after obtaining the copy I realized that was not the case. There were at least two other related Neeley families in the county at the time so maybe the burned home was one of theirs or perhaps Susan’s house did not burn completely.

At any rate, assumptions are not always correct as we all have found out many times while working on our genealogy.■

Clark C. White Heirs Awarded War Claim

The Court of Claims at Washington ruled in 1895 that a $49,000 Civil War claim due the heirs of the late Clark C. White was legitimate. The heirs were White’s two children, Mrs. Rosa A. Martin, wife of John D. Martin of Buntyn near Memphis,² and Shelton R. White of Byhalia, Miss.⁶

The claim was for 200 bales of cotton worth $40,000 and horses and provender valued at $9,000, all of which were taken from White’s plantation in Marshall Co., Miss., during the Civil War. Federal troops belonging to McArthur’s Division were said to have taken the cotton, and other soldiers took the provender which included “a round lot” of meat. Testimony in the case was first taken 20 years earlier before Judge H. F. Dix, who denied the claim because of White’s alleged disloyalty. It subsequently was proved, however, that White was an old time Jackson Union man and the claim, pressed in other directions, was at last allowed.

White, a widower, died 17 June 1886 at Buntyn Station [Memphis suburb] at age 73, leaving the two children mentioned above. Marshall Co., Miss., records show White married Mary E. Withers, daughter of Sterling Withers, on 3 Oct 1839. A resident of Marshall County for 32 years, White was well known to many of the older citizens both there and in Memphis.■

How To Get Copies of Tennessee Claims That Were Disallowed or Barred

Copies of Civil War claims filed in Tennessee that were disallowed or barred by the Southern Claims Commission can be obtained from the Tennessee State Archives & Library, 403 Seventh Ave. North, Nashville, TN 37243-0312. The only place copies of allowed claims are available is the National Archives & Records Administration. TSLA’s index of SCS disallowed claims is at http://www.state.tn.us/sos/statelib/pubsys/scintro.htm.

The cost of obtaining a copy of a claim depends on the number of pages involved and the residence of the individual requesting the copy, says Ronald A. Lee, TSLA’s director of public services. The fee for residents with a current Tennessee postal address is $5 for up to four pages. (Claims exceeding four pages will cost more.) For non-Tennessee residents, the fee for up to four pages is $10, with additional charges for more than four pages. For a price quote, e-mail the library at reference@state.tn.us. Due to the number of requests received daily, TSLA asks that only one request for a single record be submitted at a time. ■

Funeral services held at 11 a.m. Monday for David A. Harbarger who died 15 Sep 1907, aged 60 years and 17 days, were attended by a crowd of friends from far and near... It was a touching sight as a few old soldiers filed past his casket and with tearful faces looked on the face of their comrade. On the casket among the many beautiful flowers lay two American flags and to his resting place he wore the honored badge of service to his country.

He was the son of Z. S. and Margaret Harbarger and was one of 19 children of this household. When just 16 years old and weighing but 96 pounds, he enlisted in the Union army. So strong was he in purpose and principle that when the rebels shot at him at work in a cornfield he ran into the knobs and off into Kentucky where he began his career as a soldier. He was married in Aug 1866 to Mary E. Frazer. All of his children survive him, and of his 16 grandchildren, two preceded him to the better world. [Abstracted]

Hereditaments and appurtenances are included. Witnesses Martin Hancock and William Cooper proved deed before Daniel McLean, Coffee County clerk, on 6 Sep 1836, and it was registered same date.

Deed of Trust dated 9 Sep 1836: Moses Matthews of Coffee County makes deed of trust to Charles Coulson of Warren County to secure payment of $827.05 he owes to Jesse R. Edwards. Debt includes: (1) a $150 note dated 3 Jan 1834 and due 14th of succeeding February, (2) a $100 note dated 3 Jan 1834 and due 15th of succeeding October, (3) a $112 note dated 24 Aug 1835 and due one day after the date, and (4) sum of $505.05 paid by Edwards as redemption money for land hereafter described, Edwards being willing to wait four months longer with Matthews having his debts and interest secured and with Matthews willing to give him a certain assurance that his money will be paid four months after date of deed. In consideration of securing payment of debt with interest and of $500 paid by Coulson, Matthews conveys to Coulson in this deed of trust (1) a 320-acre tract in Coffee County on waters of Hickory Creek, being same land conveyed 28 Feb 1817 to James Shepherd and bounded on west by 5,000-acre tract granted to David Ross and by him conveyed to Shepherd; and (2) a 60-acre tract in Coffee County conveyed to David Bird by James Shepherd on 1st Sep 1823 and bounded by 320-acre tract that Shepherd deeded to Bird. Property adjoins land on which Langston and John Cunningham now live and southeast corner of 100-acre tract where Enoch Dale lives. In executing trust, Coulson is to advertise land for 20 days in the Central Gazette, a newspaper printed in McMinnville, and post ad at four public places in Coffee County including one at courthouse door. In ad, he is to state that on a particular day, he will expose lands for sale to highest bidder with ready cash. If money is not paid on designated date, Coulson is to proceed to sell tracts at auction and, after sale, make good and sufficient deeds conveying all rights and title Moses Matthews and his heirs may have in property. If money and interest should be paid before day of sale, this indenture is to be wholly void with no effect. Matthews appeared before Clerk Daniel McLean on 10 Sep 1836 and acknowledged making deed of trust. Deed was registered on same date.

'Cyclone' Tears Through Covington

Covington was visited by a destructive cyclone at 6 o'clock on the morning of 21 Jan 1895. The storm came in from the West and, though there were no deaths or injuries, it left wreckage and ruin in its wake. The story, which ran in the Memphis Appeal the next day, describes the scene in such minute detail that it may be useful to genealogical researchers looking for family information:

"It first struck the premises of C. N. McFadden near the west line of town, devastating his orchards and wrecking several outbuildings including a blacksmith's shop. Next it demolished a shanty on W. H. Murphy's property and then slipped over his gins and oil mills doing little damage. The depot of the Chesapeake, Ohio & Southwestern railroad was unroofed as was a storehouse occupied by Gift & Leslie."

Other damages were to the homes of Mrs. Cummings, W. N. White, and William Hamilton, and to the Covington Tannery and J. J. Green's insurance office. The tower of the new courthouse was damaged, and offices of the County Court chairman and the superintendent of education were demolished. Office furniture was wrecked in the insurance office of J. L. Garner and the office of Justice of the Peace S. R. Shelton. The front of W. V. Burchett's store was crushed and the adjoining residence and jewelry shop of Paine Brothers was heavily damaged. N. L. Freeze's building was unroofed and moved from its foundation, and the warehouse of J. H. Flippen & Co. was demolished. Also damaged were the Covington Supply Company storehouse, the Farmers & Merchants Bank, and the Bernard building.

Additional residences damaged were those of W. G. Payne, J. N. Harris, J. C. Clark, Dr. G. B. Gillespie, J. T. Talley, W. J. McColl, F. H. Pette, and others.

Train Accident Results in Death Of Memphian Elizabeth Weatherbee

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Weatherbee of Memphis was killed and her traveling companion, Miss Gracey Curtis, was injured when the axle broke on the Nashville & Northwestern train on which they were passengers. The accident occurred at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, 2 June 1895, near Pegram Station about 19 miles from Nashville. The two were among five passengers on the sleeping car which overturned. Miss Curtis, who sustained a fractured thigh and facial cuts, was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital in Nashville and Mrs. Weatherbee's body was returned to Memphis where funeral services were held from J. C. Holst's mortuary on Tuesday, 4th June. The sleeping car conductor, W. D. Dorsey, suffered a bruised knee.

A follow-up story in The Memphis Appeal on 6 June 1895 reported that the two women were frightened by the irregular motion of the car and jumped out of the sleeping car window. As Mrs. Weatherbee jumped, the car was thrown from the track and fell on her, instantly crushing her to death. Miss Curtis also was hit by the car. Found in the deceased's trunk was $2,000 worth of jewelry and a deed to a lot in the Memphus Cemetery where her husband, who died nine months earlier, was buried.

TENNESSEANS TURNED TEXANS

Richard Gilliam Dunlap
(1796 - 1841)

Contributed by Kenneth Dunlap, 13766 Wakefield Ct., Sterling Heights, MI 48312, kdunlap59@comcast.net

The signature in the lower lefthand corner of currency issued by the Republic of Texas in 1839 was that of a native Tennessean -- R. G. (Richard Gilliam) Dunlap.

Born 5 Sep 1796 in Knoxville when it was part of the Territory South of the River Ohio, he was the first son of Hugh and Susannah H. (Gilliam) Dunlap, who had married there 12 June 1794. Susannah was a daughter of Devereux and Edith (Ellis) Gilliam, who built Gilliam Station at the forks of the French Broad and Holston rivers in Knox County five miles from Knoxville. The state of North Carolina granted the land in the forks to Devereux in 1791 for his Revolutionary War service.

Richard's father, Hugh Dunlap, was born in Londonderry, Ireland, in 1769 and came to the colonies as a boy. He left Philadelphia with his goods in Dec 1791 and arrived in Knoxville about the first of Feb 1792. At that time, the whole town was a thicket of brushwood and grapevines except for a portion near the river where several shanties were put up to hold government stores. There he deposited his goods, and for several years acted as a commissary for all the troops stationed in East Tennessee.¹

Richard attended Ebenezer Academy, a Knox County preparatory school which was a leading educational institution for 20 years, and was a student of its founder, Samuel G. Ramsey. In 1814-15 he served as a cavalry captain at the Battle of New Orleans, and became a close friend of Gen. Andrew Jackson.

In Dec 1817, Richard was in Middle Tennessee on business with his father when he heard Gen. Jackson had left Nashville to take command of the Southern Army and head off trouble with the Creek and Seminole Indians. He returned home to Roane County after soliciting an order from Col. Williamson to raise a company and join Gen. Jackson.

On the day of the company's first rendezvous at Kingston, 21-year-old Richard -- fearing his youth would defeat the enterprise -- went to two gentlemen and offered his support if they would agree to head the company. The gentlemen declined on the grounds that Gen. Jackson had not called upon East Tennessee for volunteers. This made the soldiers uneasy as they had already heard doubts that the general would receive them. Richard proceeded to parade the men, and then held elections for every officer in the company. He was unanimously elected captain. At this point, "envious persons" clustered around the tavern told the soldiers Dunlap would be cruel and tyrannical, and predicted that Jackson would reject them.

When Dunlap heard the report, he was enraged. He tore the muster roll to pieces, and told his men, "I want no timid or reluctant soldiers -- you are released from your voluntary enrollment." He announced that he would camp in Gen. Brown's old field for a week and then march out to meet the army alone. Dunlap advised all cowards to go home, and invited soldiers not fighting for pay to march with him.

Seven of the company camped with him that week, and, as they were preparing to leave, Gov. Joseph McMinn -- at Richard's request -- addressed them and gave the captain a letter for Gen. Jackson. After such a send-off, it was said that Richard could have raised a whole regiment had he stayed another week. Two merchants opened their purses and stores to him, and took orders for which the government promptly paid. The East Tennessee Volunteer Company, as it was known, distinguished itself at the battle of Fort Barrancas near Pensacola, Florida.

After the Seminole War, Richard returned to East Tennessee and studied law in the office of John McCampbell. In 1822 he became a member of the bar and was soon practicing law in Knoxville.² Two years later, he and his brother, Devereux G. Dunlap, were practicing together in Knoxville. Devereux removed to West Tennessee in the summer of 1826 and died there in August.

That same year Richard was named a trustee of East Tennessee College [later the University of Tennessee], and "cards" in 1826-27 newspapers list R.G. Dunlap and W. B. A. Ramsey as Knoxville attorneys. Twice elected to the Tennessee General Assembly as representative for Knox and Anderson counties, Richard served from 1829 through 1833 and headed the House Committee on Internal Improvements in 1831. Four years later, he was a candidate for governor, but was forced to withdraw because of ill health.

The call for volunteer troops went out again when Chief Osceola and the Seminoles resisted the treaty stipulation that they move west. The East Tennessee Mounted Troops assembled at Athens and elected Richard as brigadier general. After only two battles, their task was finished. Richard then went to Nashville to seek authority and funding to take his brigade to aid the Texans in their fight for independence. He declared that if he could retain his rank of general, he could raise a force of between 2,000 and 5,000 men. However, the victory at the Battle of San Jacinto made it unnecessary.

In 1836 when President Andrew Jackson officially proclaimed the Cherokee Removal Treaty, Gen. Dunlap and his troops policed the Cherokees in Tennessee, North Carolina, and Georgia as they moved west. There was no uprising. When his troops were disbanded in the autumn, Richard said he gave the Indians all the protection in his power; the whites needed none. He also declared he would never aid in executing -- at the point of a bayonet -- a treaty made by a lean minority against the will and authority of the Cherokee people.

In 1837 Richard moved to the Republic of Texas and on the 14th of December the following year was appointed treasury secretary by newly elected president Mirabeau B. Lamar. As such, he hand-signed the republic's currency issues of 1839. On 13 Mar 1839, Pres. Lamar sent Richard to Washington as minister plenipotentiary. When Richard presented his credentials to Secretary of State John Forsyth on 9 May, he proposed that the United States recognize the Texas Republic and mediate its eventual borders with the Mexican government. Mexico, however, was not anxious to recognize what it considered a horde of adventurers in rebellion against its laws and, as a result, Richard's mission accomplished little.

Back in Texas, meanwhile, the Senate refused to confirm his nomination and he was replaced by Bernard Bee.

Richard remained at his post in Washington until Bee’s arrival, taking his leave 20 Apr 1840. A month later – on 22 May – Richard married Mary Louisa Winn, a daughter of Timothy and Rebeccia (Dulaney) Winn of Washington. Mary’s sister, Eliza Rebecca Winn, was married to Richard’s second cousin, Powhattan Ellis of Mississippi, who was U.S. minister to Mexico.

On the following day, The New Orleans Picayune carried this account:

DIED:

“At the City Hotel yesterday morning at 3 O’clock of congestive fever, Maj. Richard G. Dunlap, a native of Tennessee, and formerly Minister from Texas to the United States. Aged 45 years. He came to this city almost six days ago, laboring under an indisposition from which he never recovered, although the best medical aid and kind treatment was afforded him.”

Jurors Often Listed in Early Court Cases

Looking for a 19th century ancestor? You might try checking lists of jurors in court cases of that era. Newspapers back then often published jurors’ names, especially in cases that attracted widespread interest.

The Nashville Gazette of 29 June 1866, for instance, listed the jury in a Davidson County chancery court case it called “important.”

The suit was brought by the guardian of John McMurray seeking to set aside some land conveyances his charge had made to William C. McMurray in 1854. According to The Gazette, the highest legal talent had been retained for the suit, with E. H. East and John Reid appearing for the complainant and Mike Vaughan and Jordan Stokes for the defendant. The plaintiff’s attorneys maintained that John McMurray was of unsound mind and incapable of transacting any business when he made the lease and deed in question. A large number of witnesses was called by both sides, and The Gazette reported the case was “ably and zealously argued by the learned gentlemen.”

On 26 June 1866, the jury returned its verdict, holding that while John McMurray was a man of exceedingly weak mind, they believed his mind was sufficient to govern him in the distribution of his property and that he understood the contents of the conveyances. In conclusion, the jury said there was no evidence the lease and deed were obtained by fraud or undue influence.

The jury’s verdict was signed by John Morrow, foreman. Jurors were A. C. March, John Brown, R. A. Barnes, Andrew Gregory, A. C. Carter, R. S. Hollins, Silas N. Macey, H. C. Lockett, McD. A. Nolen, Ed. R. Pennebaker, and A. Tyler.

1 The conveyances included a lease dated 27 May 1854, and a deed dated 7 Aug 1854.
DERANGED SOLDIER - This notice, dated 3 Oct 1863 from a camp near Nashville and signed by John Keneda, appeared in the Nashville Union of 6 Oct 1863: “Daniel Neal McPhail, private of Co. C, 3d E. Tenn. Cavalry, left the Hospital tent about 5 o’clock in the morning while in a state of derangement from fever. Said McPhail is about 25 years old, 5’5” high, with sandy hair, and blue eyes. Any information of him will be thankfully received.”

DISSOLUTION - The partnership between Trabue & Lucas is dissolved in consequence of the death of Mr. Edward Trabue (which occurred on the 12th inst.). All persons indebted to said firm will please come forward and make payment; those having claims will file them immediately with William H. Lucas.

RELIEVE A DISTRESSED MOTHER - “Mrs. Sirenia Boyd, a refugee from McNairy County, is in great distress about her two sons as she can hear nothing from them. The oldest, William H. Boyd, was driven from home two years ago. The second, Azariah Boyd, belonged to the Home Guard or the 1st West Tennessee Regiment. His mother thinks it has been attached to the 62nd Illinois. Anyone who can give information of these young men will do a great favor to a distressed mother by writing to her at Shelbyville, Ill.”

MR. SAMUEL M. SCOTT, for many years proprietor of the City Hotel, after rusticaing a couple of years or more in the salubrious climate of Warren County, has returned to Nashville and become one of the proprietors of the Sewane Hotel. Scott and W. J. Thomas purchased William Roberts’ entire interest in the Sewane.

WE HAD THE PLEASURE yesterday of shaking hands with the venerable toto, Squire W. Lawson Barry, who came in from the country where he had been rusticaing for a long time. We were glad to see the old gentleman looking well and moving as sprightly as he did ye ago. He is already beyond the “three score and ten” years allotted to man, but time has not dealt harshly with him.

WEDDING BELLS - Col. Sam Tate of the Memphis & Charleston Railroad recently was married to Miss Carnes of Memphis. The fair bride “refused” in Macon during the war for many months.

RETURNED - The veteran steamboatman, Capt. Jesse Johnson, reached his home in Nashville on Christmas Day [1865] after an absence of four years in Texas. His return brought joy to a large family at Christmas, made doubly pleasant by an old familiar face once more around the festive board.

THE HORSE that the late Gen. Felix K. Zollicoffer rode in the recent battle at Fishing Creek and under which he received his death wounds was brought to Nashville yesterday and excited among our citizens who so well knew and dearly loved the lamented dead, a great deal of melancholy interest. The horse, when we observed him on College street, was surrounded by hundreds of anxious spectators. He had on the saddle and bridle worn in the battle.

TWO NOTICES signed by M. G. Shelby, president of the Ladies of the Tennessee Hospital Association, appeared in the Nashville Gazette of 25 Jan 1862 expressing the organization’s appreciation for gifts received. Mrs. Gen. Polk, vice president of the group, reported that 77 chickens and 1,000 dozen eggs had been received through Mr. Bart from the managers of a mill to have been given for the benefit of sick soldiers but which was abandoned since the distressing intelligence from Zollicoffer’s Brigade. The ladies also reported they were again under obligation to Mr. Hanna for sending them $500 from citizens of New Orleans for the sick soldiers in their charge.

DR. A. W. JONES and wife of Selma, Ala., are at the Peabody hotel. He was a surgeon in Gen. Forrest’s command during the war, and was welcomed by his old comrades. He was raised at Somerville (Fayette County) where his father still resides. Dr. Jones is a nephew of Alex. W. Williamson, and by energy and bright intellect has accumulated a large fortune.

THE WELL-KNOWN merchant, A. Vacearo, will today celebrate his 50 years’ residency in Memphis, having arrived here 15 Apr 1844 from New Orleans on board the steamer Joan of Arc commanded by Capt. C. B. Church.
DR. J. H. SHOTWELL and family left last Wednesday night [21 Mar 1894] for Asbury Park, N. J., where they will make their future home on account of the doctor's health. Mrs. Shotwell is the oldest daughter of J. C. Johnson. She is president of the Vassar Aid Society and has been an active worker in local charities. Asbury Park is the home of Dr. Shotwell's parents who formerly lived in Memphis.

EDITOR’S NOTE: This concludes Volume A. The next volume is marked 1874, and starts off with several marriages in that year, then goes back to remaining marriages for the last half of 1873. The following 1873 marriages have been extracted from Vol. B, 1874. Page numbers and dates are erratic.

1 The clerk apparently discovered he had two pages numbered 202, and stuck an "a" in front of the second one.

A View of Fire-Fighting in Memphis in 1862

[Source: The Nashville Gazette, 25 Jan 1862, reprinted from The Memphis Appeal, 23 Jan 1862]

Fire broke out in the mattress manufactory of Messrs. Woolmer & Company on the south side of Court Square in Memphis on the afternoon of 22 Jan 1862, causing considerable damage. The building in which the company was located and several adjoining tenements — all old frame structures — were destroyed.

The fine building west of the mattress plant, occupied by the Methodist Book concern below and various offices above, also would have been destroyed had it not been for iron shutters at the windows. The heat was so intense that the iron became red hot, and some of the window frames were set on fire. In one instance, it was reported, flames penetrated between the shutters and capstone, setting fire to the woodwork and floor "but a hose was got upstairs" and flames were kept down without any great damage being done either to the building, furniture, or books below.

"The rear of DeSoto Block, in which the commissary office is situated and some stores kept, was in the rear of the fire and windows, wooden platform, and framework of the skylight in the rear of the DeSoto Insurance Company were all flames," it was reported. "A hose was carried upstairs from Madison Street and the fire was kept down without serious damage being done."

Among buildings destroyed were the Excelsior Restaurant kept by Henegold & Company. Part of the structure was saved but a large lot of potatoes and other articles in the store were destroyed along with furniture and utensils to the amount of several hundred dollars.

In the mattress factory where the fire broke out, a quantity of mattresses and other property was saved but a considerable loss was sustained.

Other buildings destroyed were offices occupied by Dr. A. K. Taylor, Dr. Sale, Dr. Pittman, J. H. Unthank, Esq., and Dr. Sanders who lost all their furniture, books, and other belongings. Also burned were contents of the offices of Judge McKernan and Judge Baker on the second story of the tenements owned by Messrs. D. M. Leatherman, J. E. Chadwick, and Wallace & Denny. A frame house on Madison occupied by Peter Solare as a confectionery, was pulled down by firemen.

In assessing the city's fire-fighting capabilities, The Appeal concluded, "The steam and hand engines worked well in subduing the flames, and a number of recruits turned out and did good service."

Only a few weeks earlier, another fire almost totally consumed the Main Street half of the block on Court Square.
IN FRESNO CALIFORNIA —

Tennesseans’ Home on National Register

If you’re ever in Fresno, Calif., go to the corner of Tulare and R streets and you’ll find a house that a Tennessee family continuously occupied for 81 years. Built in 1889 by Dr. Thomas Richard Meux, formerly of Haywood Co., Tenn., it was described by a local newspaper as “probably the most elaborate residence in Fresno.” Today it is considered one of the best examples of Victorian architecture to be found. On the National Register of Historic Place since 1975, it evokes quite a bit of civic pride in Fresno and is a popular stopping place for tourists and a setting for a variety of gatherings from weddings to genealogical presentations.1

If Dr. Meux and his family were alive today, they would probably be surprised to find that their long-time home has become a tourist attraction. In 1887 the good doctor had moved his family from Tennessee to California because of his wife’s poor health. He chose California on the advice of his brother, Joseph P. Meux, who had migrated in 1879 to San Francisco and set up a law practice.2

The Meux brothers were among eight children of John Oliver Meux3 and his wife Anne P. Taggle,4 who had married in 1832 and resided at Stanton in Haywood Co., Tenn.5 By the time of the 1850 census, Anne was a 39-year-old widow with seven children: Elizabeth, 17; Malvina, 15; Thomas, 11; John, 9; George, 8; James, 5; and Joseph, 3.

Following his early schooling, Thomas attended the University of Virginia and then began the study of medicine under Drs. Morris, Bolling, and Darby, private instructors for the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. After graduating 10 Mar 1860 at the age of 22, he began his practice in Stanton, but moved the following March to Covington in Tipton County. When the war began, he enlisted in Maney’s Company (Cheatham Division) of the Ninth Tennessee Volunteer Regiment, C.S.A., and was appointed assistant surgeon.7 He was at the battles of Shiloh, Murfreesborough, and Atlanta, and held the rank of captain when he was paroled at

1 The house, now known as the Meux Home Museum, was purchased by the city of Fresno in 1973 and, after a restoration program that took almost three years, was opened to the public with guided tours conducted by docents in costumes of the era. [Source: “Central Valley Sights to See: The Meux Home,” Central Valley on the Web, http://www.planx.com/~deb/sight/meux_home.html] The home is open from noon to 3:30 p.m. on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays, and is operated by the non-profit Meux Home Corporation.

2 The 1880 census of California shows J. P. (b. in Tenn. in 1848) as single and living in a boarding house run by Mary Ann Thomas, a widow and former Mississippian with two daughters. Another Tennesseean boarding there was S. P. Tuggle, 23. John died 6 Feb 1899.

3 John Oliver, the son of Richard Meux of French ancestry, was born in Virginia in 1809 and was brought up in Huntsville, Ala. In 1830 he moved to Haywood County, locating first near Brownsville and later settling at Stanton. He died in Apr 1847. [Source: Goodspeed’s History of Haywood Co., Tenn.]

4 Anne was born in Prince Edward Co., Va., in 1810. She died in 1885. [Ibid.]

5 At the time of the 1840 Haywood County census, they had two sons and one daughter under 5 years of age, and three daughters between the ages of 5 and 10. John O.’s age was given as between 30 and 40 years, and his wife’s between 20 and 30.

6 Thomas was born in Aug 1838.

7 Thomas was later in the 34th Infantry. His brothers also enlisted in the Confederate Army. J. S. and George W. were both in Co. I of the First Confederate Cavalry, and J. W. was in Co. C of the Tennessee 9th Infantry. [Roster of Confederate Soldiers, 1861-1865, Vol. XII, Janet B. Hewett, Editor, Wilmington, N.C. 1996] J. W., who was commended by Gov. P. G. T. Beauregard for capturing the battle flag of the 2nd Michigan Light Artillery Battery at Shiloh and detailed to go to Richmond and present it to President Jefferson Davis, died at Tupelo, Miss., on 15 June 1862.
Greensboro, N.C., on 1\(^{st}\) May 1865.\(^8\)

Dr. Meux then returned to private practice in Haywood County, locating in the Brownsville area where on 3 June 1874 he married 19-year-old Mary Ester "Mollie" Davis, daughter of John C. and Martha E. (Close) Davis of Brownsville. Their three children -- John W. (born ca. 1877), Mary D. (b. ca. 1881), and Anne Prenetta Meux (b. 14 May 1885) -- were all born in Haywood County where Dr. Meux had an extensive medical practice. The family resided on a 1,260-acre farm in the Stanton area, and Dr. Meux owned another farm and other real estate near Brownsville. When the family moved to California in December 1887, they took up temporary residence in the Southern Pacific Hotel in Fresno.\(^9\) In the following March, Dr. Meux purchased a site from Fresno County in the outskirts of the city, and construction of their home was soon underway. Its plan was taken from a carpenter's catalog, and its construction cost is believed to have been about $12,000.\(^10\)

In January 1889, the Meuxes moved into their new home. Anne, the youngest child, was four years old at the time and little did she -- or any other member of the family -- ever dream that she would live in that same house for the next 81 years.\(^11\)

The 10-room, two-story house -- typical of the Victorian era -- provided a charming and comfortable abode for the former Tennessee family. With a tower, numerous chimneys, odd-angled roofs, and gingerbread trim, it includes a wide roofed veranda extending around two sides. The house's exterior is covered with horizontal clapboards, fish-scale and variegated shingles, and ornamental relief work. Inside, all walls and ceilings are papered and picture moldings adorn all rooms. One of the home's most interesting features is an octagonal-shaped master bedroom with a steep, turreted roof. Family photos decorating the walls of the room include a picture of the house in Tennessee where Dr. Meux was born and reared,\(^12\) and in the library is a portrait of the young doctor on his way to join the Confederate Army.\(^13\)

Once situated in their new California home, the doctor set about establishing his medical practice in the community. He practiced from his home and office, and 'made rounds' in a horse-drawn buggy. The hard-working doctor did not work on Sundays except in case of an emergency, and therefore would sleep a little later than usual on those mornings. In later years, daughter Anne would recall a system she and her childhood friends devised to keep from waking her father on those exceptional mornings. Before going to bed on Saturday nights, she would tie a long string to her big toe and put it out the window from her second-floor bedroom. When her friends arrived on early Sunday mornings, they would pull on the string to awaken her and Anne then would quietly slip down the rear stairs and out to the stable to saddle up her horse Caesar and go for a gallop with her friends.\(^14\)

Dr. Meux soon found that he was among friends -- and former Confederate soldiers -- in Fresno. Among them was former Tennessean Brig. Gen. Tyree Harris Bell of Forrest's Cavalry.\(^15\) The Confederate veterans at Fresno organized as the Sterling Price Camp and by 1896 had about 175 members on roll.\(^16\) They had an annual festival each April. Dr. Meux was elected commander and eventually would be elected brigadier-general of the Pacific Division of United Confederate Veterans.

\(^11\) Her occupancy is believed to be the longest individual residency documented in the city, according to the Fresno Bee.

\(^13\) His Confederate uniform and other family memorabilia are on exhibit in the home today.

\(^15\) Bell was a former resident of Newbern in Dyer Co., Tenn. After the war, he became a wheat producer in Fresno County. He died in New Orleans 1 Sep 1902 while returning to California from a veterans' convention in Nashville. He is buried in Fresno County. [Confederate Veteran, Vol. X, Oct 1902, p. 484].

\(^16\) Letter from Dr. Meux published in The Confederate Veteran, Nashville, Tenn., Vol. IV, Jan 1896, p. 29.
In the years that followed, his oldest child John — who was 12 when the family settled in their Fresno home — would grow up to be a rancher and a real estate appraiser. He married Edna Cooper, his sister Anne’s best friend, and they built a residence at Mariposa and U streets just three blocks away from his boyhood home.

The Meux’ middle child Mary — who was eight when the family moved into the home — later would graduate from high school in Fresno and attend the Anna Head School in Berkeley. When she was 25, Mary married a young attorney, Henry Ellsworth Barbour, who had come to Fresno in 1902 from his home in Ogdensburg, N.Y. Their wedding took place 29 October 1907 in the parlor of the historic home, and is remembered as one of the most fashionable and elaborate events Fresno had known up to that time. Barbour was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives for seven terms, serving from 1919 to 1933. During much of those 14 years, Mary spent quite a bit of time in Washington and abroad.

The youngest child Anne, four at the time of the move, later would attend Monticello Ladies’ Seminary. She never married. At one time she was engaged to be married, but her fiancé died suddenly from complications following a tonsillectomy. After that, she stayed at home and cared for her aging parents. Her mother, Mollie, became both deaf and blind in her later years, and it was said that the family communicated with her by means of a glove she wore that was embroidered with the alphabet.

Dr. Meux continued to practice medicine until his late 70’s. He was president of the Fresno County Medical Society in 1896, a “staunch member” of the Fresno County Democratic Club, and the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Dr. Meux maintained an active interest in agriculture, and he and his brother John owned vineyards in Fresno County.

In the fall of 1908, Thomas made a sad trip back to Tennessee when his brother, James S. Meux, died in Stanton on 5 October. James, who had been a private in the First Tennessee Confederate Cavalry during the war, was considered one of Stanton’s most prominent citizens.

Anne, who was 44 when her father passed away, would remain in the family home for 41 more years. She took an active role in the community, helping organize the Fresno Relief Society, maintaining a lifetime membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy and participating in activities at St. Paul’s Methodist Church.

On 22 November 1970, Anne Prenetta Meux died in her 85th year — maintaining to the very end a deep pride in her Tennessee heritage.

Prewitt Seeks Aid of State Legislature in Getting Land Bounty

Ransom Prewitt, a former North Carolinian living in Bedford Co., Tenn., in 1815, had perhaps better excuses than most. He stated his reasons in a petition filed with the Tennessee General Assembly that included a sworn statement made 16 Oct 1815 before Willey S. Patton, acting Bedford County justice of the peace.

In it, Prewitt said he was a regular soldier in the Revolutionary War, serving three years under Col. Clark in the 1st Regiment of the North Carolina Continentals. This statement was certified by Capt. Dixon and backed up by an affidavit signed by Joshua Prewitt [his brother]. Ransom said he was to receive a bounty in land for his services, but never got the land because he had the misfortune of losing his discharge certificate before having the opportunity to apply to the proper authority.

About that time, Prewitt added, he was bit by a mad dog.

“At certain periods this has made me have fits and has reduced me to most indigent circumstances,” he stated. At the time of this occurrence, Prewitt said he was living in South Carolina and lacked the information on how to proceed to obtain his bounty. His petition was read in the Tennessee House on 20 Oct 1815 and in the Senate 22 Oct, and referred to committee.■

17 The Social Security Index shows that Edna was born 15 Dec 1884 and died in Fresno in May 1974.

18 After being defeated for re-election in 1932, Barbour, a Republican, resumed his law practice. He died in Fresno 21 Mar 1945 and is buried in Belmont Memorial Park, Fresno. [Source: http://politicalgraveyard.com]

19 James S. enlisted 15 Apr 1862 and served until 4 May 1865. When he died at age 65, in 1908, he was survived by his widow, the former Josephine Somervell whom he married 29 Jul 1880, and two children, Miss Temple Meux and Dr. George Meux of Memphis. In addition to his brother, Dr. Thomas Meux, he left a sister, Mervina (Mrs. John D. Sale) of Moscow, Tenn. 1 The paper listed the date of this marriage and the next two as having occurred on the 14th and 15th inst. Since this issue of the Eagle was published on the 1st Jan 1848, the weddings could not have taken place on the 14th and 15th of January 1848. The editor obviously meant to say "inst." meaning the preceding month. We have therefore adjusted the dates.

BEGINNER’S GUIDE TO USING TAX LISTS by Cornelius Carroll. 2002 reprint of 1996 publication. 8½ x 11” paperback. 60 pp. $13.50 plus $3.50 p&h. Clearfield Company, Inc., 200 E. Eager St., Baltimore, MD 21202 (410) 625-9004

In his introductory remarks, the author makes no claims to being an expert on tax lists. He does believe, however, that in passing along what he has learned over the years his book will help genealogists, and he’s probably correct in that belief. The first chapter explains tax lists, tithables, quit rents, and the like, pointing out that these are often the only source of documentation that an individual lived in an area during a particular time period. The second chapter is where the fun begins. It tells how you can use tax lists to determine parentage, approximate birth, marriage, and death dates, and arrival and departure dates. They also can be used to compile the probable composition of wagon trains and migration to and from an area. Personal property tax lists can tell you what your ancestor owned that was taxable and sometimes convey nicknames or the area in a county where the person lived. The author has indeed provided a book that can open up new horizons for family researchers.

Two works of the Kentucky Historical Society’s former director are combined into a single volume that provides a long-needed reference work on the often-overlooked expedition from Georgetown, Ky., to Frenchtown (Michigan) on the frozen waters of the Raisin River and the battles and massacre which followed 23 Jan 1813. The affair deeply stirred public opinion, and gave Americans the impetus to fight the remaining battles of the War of 1812. Of greatest interest to genealogists will be the biographical sketches of nearly 100 officers and enlisted men who served on the Raisin, and the complete rosters of Kentucky soldiers in action there. This volume, the result of a three-year study of hundreds of manuscripts, books, and newspapers, gives the story of the march as told in letters, diaries, and survivors’ statements. Of special interest to Tennessee-minded researchers will be biographical information on Gen. James Winchester and his aide-de-camp James Overton, Jr. The smaller companion volume is a miscellaneous list of Kentucky veterans of the War of 1812 compiled from newspapers, pensions, county histories, veterans’ publications, etc. Among those who later died in Tennessee were Col. Joshua Baker who died in Nashville in 1816, James P. Bullock who died in Sumner County in 1858; Willis Calvert who died in Nashville in 1849; and Col. Young Ewing who died at LaGrange, Tenn., in 1833.

This is primarily the genealogy of the Tucker family whose history in this country began with the 1610 arrival in Jamestown, Va., of 21-year-old Capt. William Tucker from London. He was keenly interested in the survival of the colony, being a stockholder in the Virginia Company (which owned the Jamestown colony) and a merchant. Tucker is remembered as a member of the House of Burgesses and the Privy Council, and the leader of reprisals against the Indians in 1622 and 1623. A 1624 list of Elizabeth City residents includes Capt. Tucker and his wife Mary Thompson/Thomson, who arrived in America in 1623 with her brothers, George, Paul, and William Toumson. It is known that Capt. Tucker made trips to England in 1630, 1632, and 1633 and it is thought he may have made annual excursions. William and Mary’s daughter, Elizabeth, was born in Virginia in 1624. Mary apparently died before William because his will dated in 1642 refers to his wife Frances who is believed to have been the sister of Edmund Smythe. William said in his will that he owned 9,000 acres of Virginia land acquired in 50-acre lots for each person he transported to the colony at his own expense. Genealogical information also is included on the allied families of Allen, Blackstone, Chandler, Ford, Gerard, Harmor, Hume, Monroe, Shagg, Smith, Stesomm, Stone, Sturman, Thompson, Ward, and Yowell.

This classic is essential to any researcher pursuing information on the vast Virginia frontier which served as a gateway for various migrations to the west, northwest, and southwest by early colonists. It provides an enormous amount of information on Southwest Virginia’s social, religious, and family life from 1730 to 1790. Included are nearly three dozen maps and more than 60 illustrations showing the location of settlements and important homesteads. Throughout each of the book’s five sections are biographical sketches, land grants, deeds of conveyance, marriage and other records that identify thousands of settlers and their family members. Part I covers the beginning of the colony to 1740; Part II the period from 1740 to 1760; Part III the Virginia frontier in the French & Indian War; Part IV the war’s closing years and the formation of Botetourt County from 1760 to 1770; and Part V the county’s development from 1770 to 1783.
HAYWOOD COUNTY, DEED BOOK A-B, 1823-1831 by Barbara Crompton. 8½ x 11” spiral-bound soft cover, 114 pp., including full-name index. $30.00. No charge for postage & handling. Order from author at 1455 North 29th St., Chisholm Trail Parkway, Duncan, OK 73533.

This first book of deeds for Haywood County opens with an 1823 quit-claim deed from Haydon Wells of Washington, Ala., to Dickson Given. In it, Wells relinquishes all of his rights in Warrant 4634 which was granted to the heirs of Jonathan Lynn and transferred to Wells and John Gibson. He also relinquishes to Given all of his rights to the land that the warrant might cover. The deed was witnessed by Joseph R. Given and David Woodside and proved by them in Kentucky in Aug 1823.

Another entry of interest is an 1821 Tennessee Supreme Court decree involving the division of 70,040 acres between the Tisdale and Wheaton heirs whose ancestors -- James Tisdale, formerly of Boston, Mass., and Sterling and John Lord Wheaton of Williamson Co., Tenn.-- died intestate. An 1819 power of attorney gives the names, occupations, and residences of the Tisdale heirs, which should be of immense value to family researchers. These examples are typical of the storehouse of information to be found within the covers of this valuable book. As in the author's previous deed book abstracts of other Tennessee counties, this one includes months and bounds, water courses, many prior land owners, adjoining land owners, and all witnesses.

HAYWOOD COUNTY, DEED BOOK C, 1832-1833 by Barbara Crompton. 2063. 8½ x 11” spiral-bound soft cover, 65 pp., including full-name index. $20.00. No charge for postage & handling. Order from author at 1455 North 29th St., Chisholm Trail Parkway, Duncan, OK 73533.

In many Tennessee counties, early deed books contained far more than just deeds -- as valuable as they are. This second book in Ms. Crompton's series opens with the 1798 will of Robert Rowan of Hollyboky Plantation, Cumberland Co., N.C. (His son Thomas later conveyed the grant he inherited to David Hay of Haywood County.) Deed Book C also has the 1820 will of Mrs. Patience Wescoat of Philadelphia, Pa., whose heirs later found their way to Tennessee. Other non-deed entries of interest include marriage contracts. At least two appear in this book -- one made in 1828 Charles Tuton and Rebecca Edwards, both of Cumberland Co., N.C., and later of Haywood; and the other in 1833 between Edmund Richmond and Mrs. Judith P. Nelson. Deeds of trust, powers of attorney, and land conveyances identify many of the county's early settlers and reflect their varied activities.

SKETCHES OF PROMINENT TENNESSEANS by Wm S. Speer. 2003 reprint. Originally published 1888 in Nashville. 8½ x 11” hard cover, 579 pp., full-name index to sketches. $45.00 plus $3.50 p & h. Order from Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, Md 21202-3897.

SEARCHING FOR TENNESSEE ANCESTORS?

Arm Yourself With
Tennessee Settlers & Their Descendants.
NOW AVAILABLE IN VOLUMES 1 & 2

Both published by TGS and both filled with information on many of the men and women who helped shape this great state. Data for both books came from extensive research by present-day descendants who provided documentation proving the first member of their family settled in Tennessee (or the area that became Tennessee) between 1769 and 1880.

Vol. 1, published in hardback in 1994, is now available in a soft cover. Vol. 2, which came out last year in a hardcover edition, contains valuable birth, death, and marriage dates on 266 early Tennessee families. Together the two volumes contain more than 3,800 surnames with lineage traced for as many as seven generations in some instances.
