

LET'S DISCUSS IT – MARCH 24, 2012

(Next meeting April 28, 2012)

File naming conventions and organization of media files

Consistency is the most important thing for being able to find what you're looking for

Surname First_Name Middle_Name media type connection

Name year event location item

What about docs with more than one name? duplicate doc?

Other thoughts: <http://rootsandrables.blogspot.com/2012/03/easy-access-to-electronic-files.html>

Primary folder = surname; sub-folders: birth, marriage, death, military etc.; separate primary folders for state specific information/maps...

Photos - by date? by subject? tags?

Susan Hailey has a question on Windows Live Photo and tagging. Susan also has a method for organizing her files - folder in folder of families....

Update on swapping brick walls:

I had appraisal date and bond for after the death of ancestor but I hadn't pulled the actual inventory and sale bill, which would have shown me WHO bought stuff when it was sold and given me a clue as to which Armstrong family he belonged.....

Complete set of Kentucky Confederate pensions now online. Remember to read pension papers of others in the same county. You might find info on YOUR ancestor in those too: <http://networkedblogs.com/uy9ov>
